Iran Lays Charges Against Russia

By R. H. SHACKFORD
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(BUP)—Iran presented its case against the Soviet Union to the United Nations Security Council today and appealed to the world organization to defend Iranian independence.

SEYED HASSAN TAQIZADEH, chief Iranian delegate, was called before the council with Russian consent to state his country's side of the quarrel and ask formally for UNO intervention.

Taqizadeh reviewed the charges of Soviet interference in Iran's internal affairs and pleaded with the council to ask Russia to abide by the three power declaration guaranteeing his country's freedom.

The Iranian delegate rose to speak after a preliminary discussion that ended with the 11 member

Demand Probe Malaya Campaign

By WILLIAM STEWART

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Australian newspapers are publishing prominently recent demands for a public inquiry into the disastrous Malayan campaign of 1942 after reporting publication in the United States of a speech delivered by Winston Churchill at a secret session of the House of Commons a few weeks after the loss of Singapore.

QUOTING FROM the speech, the Sydney newspapers have underlined the reference by the former prime minister to disparagement by "credible witnesses" of the conduct of Australian troops during the Battle of Singapore.

Published side by side with these stories are suggestions for a complete inquiry, notably those made by Sir Earle Page, member of the Australian House of Representatives who in 1942 represented Australia on the Empire war cabinet, Lt.-Gen. H. Gordon Bennett, who commanded Australian forces at Singapore, and Edward J. Ward, external affairs minister.

GEN. BENNETT escaped after the fall of Singapore in February, 1942, and an investigation found that he was not justified in his action, although adding that he was prompted by the highest patriotism.

Australian correspondents who reported the Malayan campaign now are writing stories of their recollections of the fighting, in which they say the Australian 8th Division of only six battalions performed well although given what they term impossible tasks.

REPORTS FROM Canberra, the Commonwealth capital, say that Prime Minister Chipley has taken note of the revival of interest in the Singapore case and may put the matter of the request for an investigation before the next meeting of the cabinet, due early next month.

Occupying Force of Vets Moves Into Coast Hotel

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Veterans demanding emergency shelter were settled firmly in the old Hotel Vancouver today and determined to stay there until some arrangement is made to operate the building as a hostel for veterans and their families or until they are thrown out.

HON. IAN MACKENZIE, federal minister of veterans affairs, arrived here this morning but refused to comment until he meets the veterans late this afternoon.

Some 150 veterans stayed in the hotel overnight and as Mayor J. W. Cornett announced the city would not go beyond its offer of $2,000 a month for a year to help operate the hotel as a hostel, leaders of the veterans' occupying force arranged the hotel as a hostel, leaders of the veterans' occupying force arranged elaborate plans for the occupation.

Unusual Weather During Week-End

Most citizens probably didn't realize it, but on Sunday they were in the midst of an unusual weather condition—known technically as a "frontal passage," a feature which, according to the experts, was particularly marked.

HERE'S HOW IT happened. During the morning, west northwest and west southwest winds, averaging 10 to 16 miles an hour, blew over the district. At 11:35 a.m. the "frontal passage" made its appearance. The wind changed suddenly to a northeasterly direction and within an hour the temperature dropped from 25 above to 14 above—an unusual drop for that time of day.

According to the Dominion meteorological weather forecast, the winds and the cold were likely to stay around for the next 24 hours at least.

The forecast: "Continuing cold with fresh easterly winds today, colder tonight." Highest temperature of the day was expected to be 2 above. At 10 a.m. the reading was 1 below.

HIGHEST TEMPERATURE Sunday was 25 above, the lowest 9 and the minimum overnight 4 below.

The sun rises Tuesday at 8:26 a.m. and sets at 5:08 p.m.

Edmonton Officer Returns to Home

When he left home six years ago, Maj. G. H. C. "Cammie" Steer was a lieutenant and single, but on his return on Sunday he had advanced to his present rank, was married and brought his wife to Canada with him and had been twice wounded.

MAJOR STEER left Edmonton with 61st Field Battery and was with that unit during the Italian campaign. Machine-gun fire accounted for his first wound while his second resulted from shrapnel from accurate German counter-battery work.

Hospitalized in Italy, he returned to England to take a position in the Canadian Artillery training school in that country and was later posted to a repatriation centre.

He married in Chiswick, England, in March, 1944, while still at the artillery school.

LIFE IS DULL for the Canadians who still remain in England he said.

Major Steer is the son of G. H. Steer, KC, 11830 100 avenue. He had been a student at the University of Alberta before his enlistment and was well known in provincial athletic circles having once held the Wrigley half-mile record in swimming.

Say Premiers Are Optimistic On Tax Accord

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Provincial premiers, arriving last night for resumption today of the Dominion-provincial conference, were optimistic that an agreement could be reached despite the divergence of opinion on how taxation rights should be divided.

PREMIER STUART GARSON, head of Manitoba's coalition government, said if there was a failure to reach agreement on taxation matters it would be because of "our own unwisdom."

Besides Mr. Garson, provincial premiers already here are Hon. John Hart of British Columbia, Hon. George Drew of Ontario, Hon. Maurice Dupiessis of Quebec, Hon. J. B. McNair of New Brunswick, Hon. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia, Hon. Ernest Manning of Alberta, and Hon. T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan.

THE PREMIERS GENERALLY declined to be quoted but from informal talks, most delegations are hopeful the co-ordinating committee of the conference will be able

Community Cut Off By Plugged Roads

CALGARY, Jan. 29—(CP)—Some 400 gallons of milk have been dumped into the snow north of Cochrane in the last four days because all the roads are plugged and it can't be moved to its customary Calgary market. Twenty-three school children have missed five to six weeks of school. No mail is being delivered. Telephone communication has been maintained, however.

So desperate are the residents of this community, it was reported last night, that 25 to 30 of them are going to wire Premier Ernest Manning in Ottawa Monday, asking him to overrule the obstinate, do-nothing attitude" of Acting Premier W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

"THERE ARE NO ROADS any more. We can't even get through with saddle horses," said Mrs. M. Lillie, who operates a dairy farm seven miles north of Cochrane on the main Bottrell road.

"It is an emergency now," said J. W. Boothby, pioneer Cochrane district farmer. "Something must be done. We can't get Fallow to move. All the other ministers seem to be afraid of him. All we can do is ask Premier Manning to overrule him."

A few miles of roads were plowed open in the last two or three weeks by RCAF equipment. Where the road allowance itself was plugged tight, a trail was cut through the fields.

"Cochrane," said Acting Premier W. A. Fallow, commenting Monday on complaints from district road conditions north of the South Alberta town, "is in no worse condition than hundreds of other communities all over the province, and a great deal better than some."

Mr. Fallow pointed out that government equipment is available only for keeping open the main roads, whereas the roads which are subject of the present criticism are market roads whose maintenance is the responsibility of municipalities. The government, the acting premier pointed out, does not pretend to maintain market roads.

Hsley Sans Gordon Is Needed in Post

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley in a statement last night said rumors of the impending resignation of Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon "come as a complete surprise to me" and that the government regarded it as of the utmost importance that he continue as chairman. "The question has not been raised between us," he added.

14 of Graf Spee Crewmen Escape

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Police said today that 14 former members of the crew of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee escaped from a camp at Villa de Guadalupe where they were interned with 66 others. Several other interned crew members escaped two weeks ago and still are at liberty. The men had been interned since the Graf Spee was sunk at the mouth of the Plata river in December, 1939.

Veterans Here to Oppose Re-opening of German Club

No German club or other organization, with membership founded on German birth or previous citizenship will be permitted to resume functioning here in the future if members of the Edmonton unit of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada can prevent it.

AT THE MONTHLY meeting of the unit held Sunday the membership game unanimous support to a resolution, forwarded to the Dominion Command, expressing "strong opposition" to the resumption of any German organization.

Discussion of the matter was touched off by a member who asked if it were true that an attempt would be made shortly to start the former Edelweiss club again in this city.

H. S. REYNOLDS, executive officer of the unit, stated he believed that such an attempt would be made.

Mr. Reynolds then told of a con-

Bing Leading Race For 'Oscar' Award

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Bing Crosby, who does better in the Oscar Derby than his horses do in the racing variety, is running in front again for that much-prized statuette symbolic of top annual film performance.

HIS ROLE in "The Bells of St Mary's" won him the nomination last night for 1945's top honor from the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a chance to defend his triumph a year ago in "Going My Way."

Only spencer Tracy—with "Captains Courageous" in 1937 and "Boys' Town" in 1938—has been a male winner of two oscars.

On the feminine side, three former winners get the opportunity to duplicate the feats of repeaters Bette Davis and Luise Rainer. They are Ingrid Bergman, also for "Bells of St. Mary's"; Greer Garson for "The Valley of Decision" and Jennifer Jones for "Love Letters". Miss Bergman won with "Gaslight" last year, Miss Jones with "The Song of Bernadette" (1943) and Miss Garson with "Mrs. Miniver" (1942).

CROSBY'S CHIEF competition is expected from Ray Milland, who played the alcoholic of "The Lost Week-end". Others nominated are Cornel Wilde, "A Song to Remember"; Gregory Peck, "Keys of The Kingdom" and Gene Kelly, "Anchors Aweigh".

Filling out the requisite five nominees for feminine starring honors are Joan Crawford for "Mildred Pierce" and Gene Tierney for "Leave Her to Heaven".

"Bells of St. Mary's", "Anchors Aweigh", "Lost Week-End", "Mildred Pierce" and "Spellbound" were selected for the production competition.

Winners will be announced March 7.

It was Mrs. Rose's first defeat in the bonspiel. She had previously won the Grand Challenge being unbeaten in eight games.

May Get Four-Year Contract With U.K.

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon, back from a month of trade talks in Britain, said today there would be an assured market for Canadian wheat overseas for the "next couple of years" and added he hoped for the signing of a four-year wheat contract with Britain within the next few months.

OUTLINING AT a press conference details of his trip, Mr. MacKinnon made these statements:

1. The picture for the future of Canadian trade with Europe is "very good", with trade missions from Belgium, the Netherlands and France expected to visit Canada in the near future.

2. The outlook is "generally favorable" for the sale of Canadian meat and dairy products in Britain.

3. British restrictions in Canadian imports would be relaxed as soon as circumstances permit, with some announcement possible within the next few weeks.

Reserve Army Draft Is Urged For Peacetime

By JACK BRAYLEY

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—How Canada's Active and Reserve Army will be directed, trained and administered for service as an immediate striking force in United Nations security and as a field army in time of emergency was outlined at a press conference here Saturday at which divergent views were expressed on how the 205,000 men should be raised.

DEFENCE MINISTER Abbott announced the general blueprint for the post-war army organization had the general approval of the Canadian defence associations. Lt.-Col. W. F. Hadley of Hull, Que., chairman of the important non-official reserve officers group, said it was the "greatest step forward" taken by the army, but added, "we are just wondering how they are going

J. M. Keith, aero engineer, has gone to Moose Jaw to inspect the machine before final delivery is taken. It is anticipated that it will be some weeks or months before the plane will be in commission for its new duties.

YELLOWKNIFE, NWT, Jan. 28.—Battling extreme cold and dangerous fissures in the lake ice, first tractor train of the season, bringing 70 tons of freight for Operation Musk Ox, arrived safely at Yellowknife Saturday.

THE TRACTOR TRAIN, composed of six sleighs hauled by two power units, belongs to Grimshaw and Yellowknife Transport Co. of which Vic Ingraham, Yellowknife pioneer, is president.

The train made the difficult 250-mile trip from Lower Hay River, along the south shore of Great Slave Lake to Fort Resolution and then directly across the lake to Yellowknife in four days.

THE BAD WEATHER and lake fissures slowed the train down, the trip being made in good weather in about two days.

Supreme Court Opens Hearing Murder Charge

Metallic fragments resembling portions of a lead bullet, and a portion of a bullet will be offered in evidence in the trial of Anton Zelman, Athabasca, charged with murdering Abner Hingley, Athabasca district trapper and farmer, on Oct. 18 last.

ZELMAN WENT ON TRIAL Monday in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor and the following jurymen: Douglas F. Airth, J. C. Blackwell, A. F. Currie, Wallace D. Pollock, all of Edmonton; Don Downing, Westlock, and T. H. Jackman, Bremner.

Guy Patterson, KC, crown prosecutor for the Edmonton judicial district, is presenting the case for the crown, with W. G. K. Bloor acting for the accused.

HINGLEY'S BODY was found in the burnt out remains of his Athabasca homestead by neighbors on December 19. Later the charred body was burnt beyond recognition, and identity was established through a gold capped tooth.

The trial, which is expected to last two days, will see 23 witnesses called to testify. They will include ballistic experts from the RCMP laboratory at Regina, and neighbors of the dead man and the accused.

LESS THAN 10 minutes was occupied in the selection of the jury with Mr. Bloor challenging three jurymen, and the crown ordering several to stand aside. One juryman was successful in his plea to be excused on the ground that he had passed the age at which jurymen are asked to act. He told the court he was more than 60 years old, and asked for dismissal from the panel on that account. Three other requests from jurymen were rejected by Mr. Justice O'Connor.

Opening the proceedings, Patterson said evidence would be placed before the court to show the relationship between the accused and the deceased. Witnesses would tell of hearing shots from the direction of the Hingley home, and of finding the dead man's body in the burnt-out home the day following the hearing of the shots.

He said that the evidence would be adduced to show that Hingley's death was caused by a bullet wound which entered the abdomen, shattering a thigh. Also evidence would be given of the finding of metallic fragments resembling portions of a bullet, and of a bullet. The fragments and bullet were examined by RCMP experts, as was the autopsy of Hingley, and evidence would be tendered as to the results of those examinations, Mr. Patterson told the court.

He said also that evidence would be given as to the actions of the deceased's dog subsequent to the finding of the body.

FIRST WITNESS called to the stand was Dr. E. K. Wright, Athabasca, who told the court of visiting the Hingley home, and finding the unrecognizable body of a man in the embers of the home. He said there was an apparent skull fracture, and that portions of the torso had been completely burnt.

J. A. Kelso, provincial analyst, told the court he examined two specimens of blood taken from Hingley's body and found traces of carbon monoxide in both.

DR. J. R. MACGREGOR, University of Alberta pathologist, gave as his opinion that the cause of death was a bullet wound which penetrated the abdomen.

The hearing is proceeding.

Iran Charges

nations of the Security Council, including Russia, voting unanimously to hear his charges.

TADEEH WAS granted a seat at the council table with the stipulation that he would not be permitted to vote on any decisions that may be taken.

Before taking up the Iranian-Soviet issue, the council put Albania's application for UNO membership on its agenda but deferred action on it until a later date.

THE AMERICANS opposed putting the application on the agenda and the British made plain they did not want to discuss new members at this time.

The compromise to put Albania on the agenda but defer discussion was offered by Soviet delegate Andrei I. Vishinsky and was unanimously approved.

Yugoslavia sponsored Albania. Vishinsky attempted to get immediate action and was supported by Poland but the compromise finally was adopted.

THE ALBANIAN matter was taken up before the council moved to the Iranian complaint against Russia.

The Iranian delegation still lacked fresh instructions from the new Teheran government a few hours before the security council convened. The delegation was prepared to press its charges of Russian interference in Iranian affairs and treaty violations unless instructed otherwise at the last minute.

Teheran dispatches indicated that the new government intended to negotiate bi-laterally with the Russians. This was the method the Russians said they were willing to employ.

A NEW CAMPAIGN to wind up the UNO Assembly meeting by Feb. 10 was in progress today by the Americans and supported by the Russians. The British will co-operate in rushing an early closing date.

Adjournment of the assembly will not affect the issues before the Security Council, which is organized to meet continuously and independently of the Assembly.

THE UNO organizations face a complicated and controversial agenda this week. They include:

Political—The Iranian, Greek and Indonesia situations before the Security Council, which is organized to meet continuously and independently of the Assembly.

Social and Economic—The Assembly committee begins consideration today of the refugee problem, including the Yugoslav resolution asserting that it is not an international problem and proposing forced repatriation of displaced persons within four months. The UNO Economic and Social Council will meet twice this week.

Organizational—The sub-committee examining sites for the permanent UNO home in the United States will report to the assembly.

General sentiment among the delegates favors a site near New York rather than in the Boston area. It was learned on excellent authority that the Russian delegation favors the New York area.

The Dominican Republic submitted a paper to the UNO reserving its door policy for Jewish refugees started in 1938. The Dominican delegation urged investment of capital in new enterprises in their country to be founded and operated by Jews.

PREMIER INSTRUCTS IRAN DELEGATION

TEHERAN, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Premier Ahmed Salteneh announced today he had instructed the Iranian United Nations delegation to discuss Iran's complaint against Russia with Soviet Vice Commissar Andrei Vishinsky, head of the Russian UNO delegation.

The premier said the instructions had been cabled to Ali Soldelly, who was Iranian minister at the time of the "Big Three" conference at Tehran.

Soldelly, a friend of Vishinsky and speaks Russian well. (Announcement of new Iranian premier's action came as he met with security council in London prepared to meet to consider Iran's charges of Russian interference in her internal affairs.)

Jet-Driven Planes Smash Continental Flight Record

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The trans-continental flight record was shattered Saturday by three United States Army jet-propelled planes, which streaked from Long Beach, Calif., to La Guardia Field at speeds approaching that of sound.

All three planes were Lockheed P-80 pursuit ships. One piloted by Col. William H. Councill, flight test official from Wright Field, O., flew non-stop and covered the 2,470 miles in four hours, 13 minutes, 26 seconds—384.82 miles an hour. Two others stopped at Topeka, Kan., for refueling.

The previous trans-continental flight record, 2,464 miles from Burbank, Calif., to Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, in five hours and 27 minutes, was established last Dec. 11 with a Boeing B-38 bomber.

Even the two pilots who stopped for fuel at Topeka beat the old record by comfortable margins. Capt. Martin C. Smith of Kidder, Mo., covered the distance in four hours, 33 minutes and 36 seconds. Capt. John S. Babel, a fighter pilot of the 412th Jet-Propelled Fighter Group at March Field, Riverside, Calif., made it in four hours, 23 minutes and 54 seconds.

Babel, who stopped four minutes at Topeka, made an average speed of 561 miles an hour. Smith stopped six minutes at Topeka and averaged 540 miles an hour.

Most of the time the planes flew at altitudes of 35,000 to 41,000 feet.

to recruit that many men without compulsory service."

The two men met with Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulker, hard - working chief of the general staff, and pleasantly argued, respectively, for voluntary and compulsory service.

MR. ABBOTT SAID he thought attractive rates of pay and other popular conditions would bring the required number of men for the active army, which he hinted might be expanded beyond the announced 25,000 figure. He also thought an attractive program, which included the use of present camps, drill halls and modern battle equipment, would entice civilians for the 180,000-man establishment of the reserve force.

The pre-war active force numbered about 4,000 all ranks while the greatest number of men in arms in training at any one time during the pre-war period was 40,000.

COL. KELLEY SUGGESTING a modified type of universal service, said he thought it could be fitted into the Reserve Army plan with men doing three years service with the force and attending 30 training sessions a year, together with summer camps. This is the schedule volunteers reservists will be asked to follow.

Mr. Abbott gave a breakdown of the active force in which he indicated it would have a striking head of about 10,000 men in an air landing brigade group, with the compact unit will train as an entity and using troop-carriers, gliders and transports will be able to make an all-out airborne assault at a moment's notice, taking along everything from Bren guns to jungle kits.

THE REMAINING 15,000 men in the active force will be spread through the new five operational area commands and 11 administrative military districts. A good many of them will be used to provide the training and administrative staffs for Reserve Army units—which, incidentally, will wherever possible perpetuate the names and territorial affiliations of battle honored regiments.

While prospects of good pay and educational facilities for promotion were being held out to attract young men, promotion limit in the Reserve Army has been raised from colonel to brigadier.

There also will be a "supplementary force" made up of men wishing to retain their army connection, not obliged to undergo annual training, but required to support and complete the field force in time of war.

MR. ABBOTT GAVE this hint on the possibility of a larger force:

"Until we know more about our international obligations and consequent requirements, these active force units will be retained at a minimum and be subject to whatever expansion might later be required in the light of any obligations which we might accept to assist in maintaining the peace of the world."

Woman Injured in Street Accident

Mrs. John Maxwell, 10034 Wadhurst road, suffered a slight scalp wound in a traffic accident late Sunday afternoon at 106 street and 61 avenue. She is alleged to have been riding in a car driven by R. The truck was proceeding north on 106 street when Bradley's car is said to have come out from 61 avenue and run into the side of the truck.

version he had some time ago with a former official of the Edelweiss club.

"I had suggested that they sell the building in the east end to the army and Navy, because I pointed out that operation of the club would not likely be permitted after the war," Mr. Reynolds said.

"THE MAN PROMPTLY told me that there was every intention of reorganizing the club," continued Mr. Reynolds.

"He cited the fact that sons of many former club members had served with both the British forces and said in effect he didn't believe we could prevent the club being reorganized and put in operation.

"I told him again I thought the organization would not be permitted to function and suggested young veterans of Canadian origin join the Army and Navy Association or other organizations of Canadian war veterans when they return from service."

EXECUTIVE MEMBER Frank Harvey, in seconding the resolution declared said hearty applause:

"Regardless of how many sons they had serving in the forces we don't want any Nazi or German-directed organization to function in Canada."

It was suggested that similar action be taken in regard to the Japanese but it was decided to take no action until publication of the findings of the Supreme Court of Canada on the question of deportation of Canadian-born Japanese, has been made.

Dismiss Charge False Alarm Case

Charge of turning in a false alarm against Warren J. Brown, 10726 98 avenue, was dismissed in city police court Monday morning by Magistrate A. I. Millar, KC. Brown had been accused of calling the fire department in the early hours of Jan. 18.

DETECTIVE HARRY NELSON told the court that he had gone to the fire alarm box on the corner of 99 avenue and 105 street about 12:25 a.m. on Jan. 18 in response to a call. He stated that he had found no fire in the vicinity and told of following tracks in the forty-follom snow. Tracks took him east on 99 avenue to 102 street where he apprehended Brown.

The detective stated that the tracks disappeared in places where the snow had blown off. He stated he thought which led him to Brown were the only fresh ones in the snow.

CALLED TO THE witness box, Brown denied having turned in the alarm. He said he had walked past the alarm box and stated that he hadn't seen anyone in the vicinity.

Conference

to reach some basis for discussion during this week and possibly reconvene later to iron out details of final agreement.

This optimism prevailed despite the fact that Ontario's government's counter-proposals flatly opposed the federal government's suggestion it be given exclusive rights in the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields.

SONS OF THE PREMIERS, while stating they understood Mr. Drew's position and probably would do likewise under certain circumstances, said they favored the Dominion proposals over the Ontario counter-proposals as a basis for discussion as far as their provinces were concerned.

This feeling appeared to prevail among the Maritime and western premiers, who have expressed their willingness to relinquish income, corporation and inheritance tax fields to the Dominion on certain specified conditions.

HOWEVER, SHOULD a basis for common discussion not be found there appeared little likelihood of any possibility of an extension of the wartime tax agreements under which the provinces ceded the personal income and corporation taxes to the Dominion.

Any move to abandon the federal government's health insurance plan likely will meet opposition from Premier Garson who said in a recent statement on the federal proposals that the first stage of the national health insurance program should be inaugurated at the earliest possible date. There was the greatest urgency in Manitoba for better health services, especially for rural people, he said.

THE MARITIME and western provinces appear to agree that besides a straight subsidy grant from the Dominion the fiscal need of each of the provinces should be considered.

Tractor Train

ial there was a large amount of freight for northern mining companies, it was reported by Jerry Murphy, manager for the Grimshaw-Yellowknife Transport at Yellowknife.

THE FREIGHT was trucked from Grimshaw to Lower Hay River Post, and there placed aboard the tractor train.

The winter road between Grimshaw and Hay River is reported to be in very poor condition this winter with many truckers being forced to abandon their loads. Bulldozing is needed to put the road in shape.

THE TRACTOR TRAIN was under the direction of Ned McPhillamey, veteran northland transport expert.

Four men, two cat drivers and two helpers, serve with the train, the men sleeping and eating in shifts in a caboose at the rear.

ON THE RETURN trip to Hay River the train will have a load of uranium ore concentrates from Eldorado Mines on Great Bear Lake. The uranium ore is now playing a critical role in world politics because of the development of the atomic bomb.

There are 200 tons of the concentrates waiting to be moved south, transport officials stated Monday.

LATER TRIPS into Yellowknife will carry progressively some 1,000 tons of machinery and materials for the operations of Giant Yellowknife Gold Mines Ltd. A considerable amount of this equipment and material is for the 500 foot H.P. hydro plant the Giant is constructing on Snare River, 109 miles north of Yellowknife.

Two Automobile Concerns Settle Wage Disputes

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The United States labor-management picture took on its rosiest hue in weeks today as one high government official predicted an end to the crippling steel strike "within a week or so."

SAYING HIS FORECAST was based only partly on the trend shown in the recent Ford and Chrysler wage agreements, this official added that more particularly there are signs within the steel industry itself that settlement advocates are gaining the upper hand.

The industrial scene now is brighter than in months past, officials said, with the new Ford and Chrysler wage agreements availing union ratification, a threatened railroad strike averted, and the country's packinghouse workers returning to their jobs following federal seizure of the meat packing industry.

But the strike of 750,000 steel workers gradually strangling the manufacturing industries remained the No. 1 concern of the government.

THE FORD and Chrysler settlements will mean little to reconversion, however, if those companies are to be long cut off from steel; moreover, General Motors is still deadlocked with the CIO over its own 10-week strike as long as the steel shutdown remains a barrier to all-out production.

Another obstacle to a GM settlement, it developed, is the announced determination of the CIO United Auto Workers not to resume work at GM for the 18-cent increase they accepted from Ford for the 13½ cents accepted from Chrysler.

Walter Reuther, vice-president of CIO-UAW said Saturday he will not settle with GM for less than 19½ cents". This is the figure recommended by the presidential fact-finding board.

MR. TRUMAN laid particular emphasis on the decision of the railroads not to ask receivers to accept arbitration of their wage dispute, thus ending a strike that involved 18 of the 20 brotherhoods.

Steady progress has been recorded back to the dinner tables of the United States today as slaughtering was resumed in packing plants where strikes had halted production since Jan. 16.

A survey indicated that practically all the 248,000 American Federation of Labor and CIO meat industry workers who struck when the 134 plants seized Saturday by the United States department of agriculture.

MEANWHILE, a possible basis for settlement of the two-week-old strike of 200,000 CIO electrical workers was projected by announcement that the Radio Corporation of America and the union had agreed on a 10-cent hourly wage increase for 8,000 Camden, N.J. workers.

Some labor circles suggested the RCA Camden contract might provide a basis for settling the country-wide dispute.

Ukrainians Give Concert in City

A concert of dances, songs and folk-lore was presented at the Empire theatre on Sunday by members of the Edmonton Ukrainian-Canadian organization. It is the second such concert given by this group.

A STRING ENSEMBLE, all dressed in traditional costume, under the direction of Gene Derry, provided the music during the evening. Miss Derry also conducts the choir, which is composed of more than 100 persons.

Several Ukrainian dances, led by M. Mychayluk, were well received by the audience which packed the hall.

An exhibition of tumbling, calisthenics and acrobatics was given by a group of youngsters headed by Stella Holoko and Ted Sawchuk.

Dolly and Zenia Tkachuk presented two violin and piano numbers which were highly entertaining, and Miss Marjory Bordian showed some fine talent in her dance presentation.

Next July a Western Canada Ukrainian festival will be held in Edmonton, it was announced by Harry Yacuk, provincial recording secretary of the association. He also announced that the provincial convention will be held on March 8, 9 and 10 in Edmonton .Master of ceremonies for the concert was William Halina.

Appraise American Properties in Area

Appraisal of United States Army properties here to be taken over by the federal government for disposal, is proceeding, it was stated by special Canadian Commissioner for Northwest Defence projects, said Monday.

At present the large warehouse supply setup formerly used by the U.S. Army for the Alaska Highway and other north projects, known as "the railhead", is being appraised jointly by Canadian and American officials. The work is expected to be fully completed for one month, the commissioner stated.

Another large American property is the U.S. military hospital, some of which space is being utilized as class rooms by the University of Alberta. The hospital appraisal will not be completed before July.

After appraisals are completed the properties will come under the direction of War Assets Corporation for final disposal.

Color is the property of light rays which causes visual action on the retina of the eye.

Seize Hotel

cer" of the occupying force, said the hotel is "being operated temporarily as a co-operative hostel for the joint staff committee and the Canadian Legion branches. It will continue to be so operated until another reasonable organization undertakes the management on a long-term basis".

"THE SOLE PURPOSE of opening the hotel was to accommodate as to provide emergency shelter to returned men and their families for the duration of the present shortage of hotels.

No move has been made to oust the veterans from the 560-room hotel in downtown Vancouver that has been used by the army during wartime as an administrative headquarters and is in process of being returned to its owners, the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Two city police officers arrived at the scene shortly after the "bloodless" occupation Saturday, remained 15 minutes and left. Steadman said there was no sign of any police since.

"THE WELCOME" SIGN—a 15-foot canvas with the words "Action Stations" drawn over the front entrance of the hotel late Saturday by members of the New Veterans branch of the Canadian Legion after the group of 35, including the women, marched from the Legion hall two blocks away, into the hotel.

Situated in the centre of the down town section of the city, the once-luxurious lobby soon echoed to the sounds of "business as usual" in spite of the "invasion" spread. By Saturday night more than 200 ex-service personnel had registered and agreed on a room and women spent the night in the structure.

ERIC MARTIN, vice-president of the New Veterans' branch, said "We feel we had no right to ask permanent to take action and decided to move in."

"We are here to stay," he added, "although we do not intend to operate it as a hostel."

The lobby, which until 1939 was heavily-carpeted and aglow with lights, was littered with folded cots, crated furniture, boards, and a few dozen bottles under a half a dozen dusty light bulbs.

SOON CITY AUTHORITIES and officials of the department of veterans' affairs here, said the many and special meetings were arranged yesterday to discuss the housing problem. Dr. W. J. Wright, it was stressed to delegates attending a meeting called by George Derby, regional director of the DVA, that the city "has no right to force for the returned men and this situation is the responsibility of the federal government."

THE VETERANS held a meeting prior to the march at nearly Legion headquarters. The vice-president of the New Veterans' branch, Eric Martin, said plans for the "occupation" had been discussed at meetings held over the past two weeks. They decided to "act" Saturday.

The veterans strode through an unattended lobby and entered the elevators blocks to the main entrance. A lone guard, member of the Sheffield Highlanders, offered no resistance and made no attempt to stop the "invasion."

WHILE THE OCCUPANTS called to made themselves at home, some seating themselves in the lobby, others advancing to the interior in little reconnaissance groups, the guard notified military authorities. On arrival, officials said they would make no attempt to oust the veterans.

At an executive meeting, plans were formulated. The veterans were told that beds, blankets and mattresses had been volunteered for their use during their stay. Some of the supplies arrived by truck shortly afterwards.

AFTER THE VETERANS moved into the hotel, numerous city cafes and dairies sent in coffee, milk and sandwiches. On Saturday night, word spread quickly throughout the city, and others had arrived. Martin said 150 men and 24 women spent the night in the hotel.

The hotel, host to royalty and many of the world's most prominent people while in operation, is owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It was closed just before the arrival here of the King and Queen in 1939.

The CPR announced intentions to demolish the structure, but during the war leased it to the department of national defence.

Wheat Market

sire for emigration to Canada from Belgium and Holland.

MR. MacKINNON said wheat had top billing in his talks overseas and he termed the prospects for Canadian wheat over the next two years as "very clear," although Canadian wheat experts were hesitant about how the picture would shape towards the end of the second year.

However, it seemed likely it would be several years before wheat production could return to normal in Europe and in the meantime there would be many demands for Canadian wheat.

Mr. MacKinnon said at the moment Canada was searching wheat overseas "to the last bushel" and as quickly as transportation would permit. Commitments for the crop year ending next July 31 totalled 335,000,000 bushels and it was expected the carry-over would be reduced to 50,000,000 bushels and might even go lower if there were indications of a good crop this year.

BRITAIN HOPED to obtain 200,000,000 bushels of wheat from Canada in each of the next two years, but there were indications she would want a "balancing up" on the current fixed Canadian wheat price of $1.55 a bushel.

"Britain will take all the wheat we can give them and it is likely we will enter into an agreement, say for a four-year period within the next two months," said Mr. MacKinnon.

"However, the contract might be at a different price, although we want it to remain independent of the world price. The British didn't say they would pay the same price, but in the circumstances they might."

THE MINISTER SAID every bushel of wheat now available for shipment was allocated and Canada could not ship any more than for which she already had made commitments, France, for instance, was "desperately" in need of wheat and to assist her Canada was advancing her shipments, sending March allotment in February.

In addition to Britain and France, Canada also was sending wheat to UNRRA, Belgium, Holland, Norway and a "few old established customers." Sales were at fixed export price of $1.55 a bushel.

Mr. MacKinnon said there was difficulty in transporting wheat to Britain and the Canadian government had urged the United Kingdom to see wheat shipments were not interfered with by Britain's inability to provide transportation.

BRITAIN HAD ASKED for more wheat and that was being taken up by the Canadian Wheat Board, he said noting, the United Kingdom was supplying 2,000,000 of her troops around the world and also was buying wheat in the United States, at the world price, for shipment to Europe.

Leaders of the British grain trade had "greatly welcomed" Canada's decision to sell wheat at $1.55 a bushel instead of trying to boost the price in a seller's market.

"WE WERE ASSURED that this policy would pay dividends to Canada in the future," Mr. MacKinnon added.

He said the question of when wide-open grain trading would be permitted on the Winnipeg grain exchange had not been discussed.

French Blonde Relates Details Of Nazis' Camps

By WALTER CRONKITE

NUERNBERG, Jan. 28.—(BUP)—A pretty French blonde told the war crimes court in lurid detail today that the Nazis turned women's concentration camps into experimental sterilization centres and slave markets.

THE WITNESS WAS Madame Marie-Claude Vaillant-Couturier, Communist member of the French assembly and a survivor of the Auschwitz and Ravensbruck camps.

She said Jewish women particularly were used in sterilization experiments with X-ray and operations.

"The Germans said they were looking for the best method of sterilization so they could repopulate all the western European countries with pure German blood one generation after the war," she testified.

SHE SAID pregnant Jewish women were forced to undergo operations and Jewish babies born alive were drowned in buckets.

She began her testimony timidly but her voice grew strong and angry as she recounted the camp horrors. Some of the defendants appeared to wince under accusations.

"Non-Jewish women," she said "where allowed to have babies and keep them but the babies seldom lived more than four or five weeks because of the conditions."

She said women at the camps constantly were forced to answer roll call in the nude.

"THE SS RECRUITED servants and prostitutes at will among the inmates of Auschwitz," she said. "A female camp boss made rude remarks about the women's figures while SS officers examined the prisoners and picked out the ones they wanted."

She said the gas chamber execution scenes at Auschwitz were reminiscent of Dante's inferno.

"Forty-five minutes after the arrival of transports, the sky was reddened around the camp by lights from the burning pits," she said.

"ONE NIGHT we were awakened by horrible cries. We learned the next day that the Nazis had run out of gas and children had been hurled alive into the furnaces."

She described the Ravensbruck camp as the principal female slave market for German factories.

"Women inmates were assembled and visiting factory managers felt their muscles in an effort to select the best physical specimens," she said.

Social Security Plan in Britain Wins Approval

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Jan. 28.—(CP)—With the comment "better than Beveridge" some Labor members of parliament—rebellious two months ago—are approving the government's omnibus bill to insure the British people against sickness, unemployment, and old age and to assure payments for orphans, widows, mothers in employment and bereaved families.

LAST FALL 150 back-benchers protested that the basic 10 shillings ($2.22) weekly paid to old-age pensions was insufficient and they were not satisfied by the government reply that supplementary payments were made to 1,000,000 of the 4,000,000 British pensioners.

James Griffiths, national insurance minister, has promised the new pension rates, presumably including the retirement pension of 26 shillings ($5.72) weekly, will be paid by next autumn.

The "retirement pension" replaces the old age pension. The benefits follow the proposals outlined by the white paper issued by the Churchill coalition government in September, 1944, except that rates have been increased from 29 shillings to 33 shillings, sixpence for a widow with child and from 20 shillings to 26 shillings week for a widow's pension. Extended provision also has been made for the care of widows.

THE BEVERIDGE report on social insurance and allied services was brought down in December, 1942, and proposed the plain covering of all citizens without any upper income limit but having regard to their different ways of life.

The Labor government plan accepts several of the Beveridge proposals, including the suggestion that the retirement pension may be claimed at any time after the minimum age of retirement—65 for men and 60 for women.

Sir William suggested that a single man or woman receive 24 shillings weekly for unemployment, retirement or disability benefits while the government proposal is 20 shillings. His proposal for 36 shillings weekly for 13 weeks for employed mothers as a maternity benefit has been adopted.

RCAF Plane Makes North Mercy Flight

CHURCHILL, Man., Jan. 28.—(CP)—An RCAF Norseman was back at Churchill last night after completing a mercy flight to Duck Lake, 180 miles northwest of here, where Capt. Alex Bryans of Toronto set a dislocated shoulder. The injury had been suffered by Walter Gordon of Pine Falls, Man., manager of the Hudson's Bay Company post there. The plane also brought back to Churchill Saturday an unidentified Indian woman suffering from tuberculosis.

LYNN TRIUMPHED in a three-way balloting contest over T. Hollands and H. S. Reynolds.

E. Coates of Onoway was elected country representative over E. Mayson of Noyes Crossing.

The following were elected to the executive for 1946:

Frank Harvey, Charles Bumstead, Art Hopwood, F. A. Thompson, H. S. Reynolds, Archie Ritchie, Dick Williams, W. H. Smith and W. Collins.

Ritchie and Smith are veterans of the present war.

RITCHIE, FORMER STAR rugby player, has returned to duty with the Edmonton city police department after several years of service in the navy.

Mr. Reynolds was unanimously chosen to represent the Edmonton unit on the Provincial Command of the association.

J. A. McIver, CA, was appointed unit auditor for another year.

Financial report covering the past year disclosed a healthy condition of the treasury with a good cash surplus despite the purchase of the new premises in the Churchill building on Jasper avenue east.

MR. REYNOLDS, CHAIRMAN of the finance committee, read the annual report and statement of the trustee, N. B. James, MLA.

Mr. Reynolds also stated that he hoped the next monthly meeting could be held in the new headquarters in the Churchill building.

It was announced that $1,500 was expended in the past year for the purchase of smokes and other comforts distributed to wounded and sick veterans in city hospitals.

Alex Storm, secretary of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, appealed to club members for support of the drive to secure accommodation for some 3,000 returning veterans and war brides.

MEMBERSHIP OF THE Edmonton unit now stands at 721, with 38 new members initiated on Sunday by President Lynn.

President Lynn thanked the membership and officers for the loyal co-operation throughout the past year.

The unit pledged support to a move to sponsor club entry to horse riding events at future horse shows in the city.

At Least 21 Dead In Fires in U.S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(CP)—At least 21 persons were killed and 27 injured Sunday by fires striking in scattered United States cities. Heavy property damage was reported.

In Kansas City 10 persons were killed and at least five were hurt in an apartment house blaze. Four died and 14 were injured in a St. Louis hotel fire.

One person was killed and six others burned in Monroe, La., when fire swept through part of a small hotel.

FIRE STARTED by a three-year-old child playing with a match swept three tenements on Manhattan's east side, killed three and injured at least one. A four-month-old negro baby was burned to death in her crib in New York City's Harlem.

A Chicago apartment-hotel fire caused the death by suffocation of two women and injured another.

Three business buildings in the heart of Charleston, West Va., were swept by wind-whipped flames and at Columbia, Tenn., a business district fire caused an estimated $400,000 damage. A spectacular shipyards fire destroyed four buildings at Evansville, Md.

A blaze in the hold of the 3,537-ton cargo ship, Jacob Luckenbach, anchored in New York harbor, raged for more than an hour before crew members and fire boats brought it under control.

Queen Elizabeth, Aquitania Bring Canadian Troops

SOUTHAMPTON, Jan. 28.—(CP)—The repatriation liners, Queen Elizabeth and Aquitania, sailed for North America today with more than 15,000 Canadian servicemen aboard.

The Elizabeth carried 10,620 servicemen and women and a few civilians while the Aquitania carried 5,395 army personnel, Royal Canadian Navy officers and 82 ratings, including 23 members of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

Drafts sailing on the two ships were miscellaneous and were bound for all parts of Canada. The Elizabeth will berth at New York; the Aquitania at Halifax.

Recover All Bodies Of Crash Victims

CALGARY, Jan. 28.—(CP)—All bodies of the seven men whose RCAF Dakota transport plane which crashed against Ptolemy mountain near Coleman a week ago have been recovered, it was revealed by the RCAF yesterday.

All have been transported to Blairmore, Alta., by toboggan, and the entire rescue party had left the scene of the crash.

THIS WAS ALL the information which could be obtained from the air force officials directing the rescue work, who obtained promises of secrecy from everyone who aided them in the recovery operations.

They did not state when the rescue party returned to Coleman from the mountain where they had maintained an operations camp since Thursday afternoon, the day following the discovery of the wreck by three forestry rangers.

At Lethbridge it was learned an official investigation has already opened to determine, if possible, the cause of the crash. It reportedly opened in Lethbridge, obtaining some information there, and then moved to Blairmore to complete the hearing.

Christian Union Takes Big Lead In German Vote

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 28—(AP)—The Christian Social Union, a middle-of-the-road party, piled up huge majorities in Bavaria and led almost three-to-one early today in still incomplete returns from yesterday's elections in the United States zone.

The heaviest vote in German free-election history was recorded in the balloting, limited to communities of under 20,000 population, for seats in rural councils. American military government officials estimated that between 80 and 90 per cent of those eligible voted.

The Christian Social Union in returns from 1,076 precincts in Bavaria and North Baden won 216,626 votes and 5,318 local council seats, according to compilations of the American-sponsored German news agency Dana.

Fingerprints Said "Most Vital Clue" In Degnan Murder

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Detective Chief Walter Storms said Saturday fingerprints found on a ransom note provided "the most vital clue" yet developed in the Degnan kidnap-slaying case.

Storms said the prints were those of a person so far unknown to Chicago police. The prints failed to correspond with those of all other persons known to have handled the ransom note after the kidnapping of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan was discovered Jan. 7.

Desere Smet, 35, a janitor, who was held without charge by police for two days while they questioned him after the kidnapping, filed suit in superior court Saturday for $50,000 damages. He named as defendants Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast and Sgt. John Hanrahan. The suit alleged Smet had been "abused, mistreated, assaulted, battered and tortured" during the detention.

He Tells 'Em How to Kiss

Alberta's Expert on Osculation Now Receiving Flood of Mail

E. R. Graham of Vegreville, Alta., "never thought it would come to this," but since he informed Edmonton Chamber of Commerce Jan. 9 that his avocation is that of a "kissing expert," he has received 2,300 letters, has two helpers answering them and may have to add a third if the flood of mail continues.

MOST OF HIS correspondents, Mr. Graham said today, are married people whose osculatory technique has rusted, and much of his mail has come from Saskatchewan and the Maritime Provinces. The southern United States is well represented, too.

For the geographical distribution of his correspondents, he has no explanation except, perhaps, that women outnumber men in those regions.

ONE WOMAN, who frankly classed herself as an "old maid," wondered in a letter if her ignorance of the art of kissing was responsible for her status. A married woman wrote for advice because she doubted her ability to hold her husband.

At first, short, mild-mannered Mr. Graham answered his correspondence alone, but when mail began flooding into the post office at Vegreville, 57 miles east of Edmonton, he called in Roy Cassio and Jim Murphy as assistants.

NOW HE SENDS inquirers a mimeographed sheet containing instructions in 23 different methods of kissing.

Even now he is receiving 30 to 40 letters a day from potential Casanovas and would-be Juliets.

"I am getting letters from as far down as New Mexico," he said. Twenty-four hours after he informed the Chamber of Commerce of his hobby, an American radio show interrupted its broadcast to say the hobbyist lived in Vegreville.

SUBSEQUENTLY letters poured in, one addressed to "Heavenly Bliss" and others to the "Kissing Expert". The manager of a New York theatre called Mr. Graham to say that if he did not furnish an idea of 23 kissing methods another theatre would have to be built to hold letters being received.

"A theatre chain has sent me an offer to appear and explain the techniques, but unless I get a good proposition I don't think I'll go," he said.

HE CONSIDERS HIS subject worthy of serious literary treatment, and is planning to write a book about it. He travelled the world over for five years with a camera company, and first developed an interest in his specialty in the Hawaiian islands. As he travelled he studied the ways of expressing affection in vogue in various countries.

The "holds", he says, are everything. How long the torrent of mail will keep up he does not know. Graham, 44, has three children. His 11-year-old daughter Margaret is much amused by the changes wrought since her father's hobby was brought to light.

HIS WIFE, TOO, finds the situation amusing.

"I wish you good luck", she wrote him from Calgary, "but how has it happened you have never used those holds on me?"

Unions Restless

Easing of Wage Controls Expected at Early Date

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Increasing pressure of Canada's industrial wage structure today appeared inevitable, but one important question which remained unanswered was the extent to which relaxation of wartime wage control regulations would offset the growing unrest in some unions.

THE AMENDED wage order is expected to be announced within the next week or two, probably simultaneously with a lifting of the price ceiling on some articles. Speculation is that the order will open the way for increases up to five per cent by free collective bargaining, without requiring the approval of War Labor Boards.

Expectation also is that boards will be given wider scope through substitution of a more general phrase for the term "gross inequality or gross injustice" which now must be proven to gain increases. It also appeared likely such matters as holidays with pay will be returned to free collective bargaining, minimum wages will go back to provincial jurisdiction and some machinery will be provided for dealing with wage cuts.

POSSIBILITY of a co-ordinated program on wages will receive preliminary consideration at a conference of the United Steelworkers (CIO-CCL) to be held at Hamilton Feb. 2. High officials of the CCL—A. R. Mosher, president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer — are being invited to confer with a number of other prominent CCL union officials—George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers; Freeman Jenkins, president of the Maritime district of the United Mine Workers; Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers; Robert Carlin, international board member of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and Joseph MacKenzie, of the United Rubber Workers.

No Need to Rush

Information has been given out that price ceilings will be removed from some lines of goods, perhaps in a week. What commodities will be affected is not stated, other than that the restrictions will be taken off only where supplies have become large enough to meet any probable demand.

Care will have to be taken that the supplies are really, and not only apparently, sufficient. It will be better to err on the right side, if at all, and leave the ceilings on when there is a reasonable doubt that the law of supply and demand will keep prices from shooting upward.

It will not do, either, to take the supply situation in Montreal and Toronto and other large eastern centres as reflecting the situation the country over. For whatever reason there has been considerable lack of uniformity in this respect throughout the war period. Some things which could not be found in Edmonton stores were on sale in eastern cities—and also at Vancouver.

Consumers have been taught to depend on price ceilings, both to protect their pockets immediately and to prevent inflation. They have come to do so, and are by no means anxious to see these controls relaxed at a risk of prices being bid upward. The fact that strikes are crippling production in the United States is naturally making them skeptical about the safety of taking off controls until conditions here are more assured.

There is of course no point in keeping an arbitrary ceiling on a commodity when competition would accomplish the same purpose. But neither is there any need to remove a ceiling where circumstances do not definitely promise price stability.

The Vital Thing

Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, who has been leading the Canadian delegation to the first meeting of the Assembly, said in an interview that if every member of the United Nations observes the Charter there can never again be a world war.

Obvious of course, but nobody had said it in quite such simple language, nor in so brief and direct a way. Should general war come again it will have to be because some member or members violate the Charter as Germany, Italy and Japan violated the Covenant of the League of Nations.

A global conflict lasting longer than World War One was the price we have paid because the Covenant was treated as a scrap of paper. That surely should guarantee that the Assembly and the Security Council will keep on the alert against any attempt to treat the Charter in the same way.

This is the one vital thing for which the United Nations Organization was created. Its business is to prevent another general war, first and foremost. Whatever it can do beyond this, in the way of improving conditions in backward states and cultivating more positive friendship between nations, will be all to the good. But the point must not be forgotten that the great object is to keep from starting another conflagration.

What has been happening at London is proof enough that there will be plenty of bickering and disagreement in the Assembly, as there will be also in the Security Council. But so long as every member state keeps its pledge to respect the provisions of the Charter there can be no World War Three. And if the United Nations cannot keep from pitching into each other it will not matter what other things they do or try to do.

Everybody's Fight

Professor McDougall of Queen's university stated the precise truth in simple language when he said any current danger of inflation could be met by providing "such a supply of current goods as will meet the public desire to spend without increase in prices".

He could have added, there is no other way to dispel the danger; for rationing and other arbitrary restraints on spending are only stop-gaps, which do not always stop—witness the sporadic demands for raising ceiling prices and the concessions which have to be made to those demands. Governments cannot abolish the menace; they can only fight it. The producer is the man, and the only man, who can make an end of it.

When there is fair balance between available goods and the readiness of the public to spend, inflation is impossible. When goods are scarce and money plentiful—as in Canada today—it is not only possible but imminent.

It really rests with the public whether we are to get through this post-war period without another mad price-wage scramble like the one which followed World War One. Not with the public collectively as represented by parliament, but with the individuals, classes and groups who decide how much producing is to be done.

Wherever a farm or a factory or a mill or a mine keeps steadily in operation, inflation is being fought. Whenever there is a stoppage in any of these production units, the tendency to inflation is strengthened.

Canadians of all ranks and classes who remember what they went through at the close of the 1914-18 war should resolve for themselves that 1946 must be a year of uninterrupted production on the largest possible scale. That is their only sure protection against another bout with chaotic conditions.

Memorial Riots

Followers of the late Subhas Chandra Bose have been paying tribute to his memory in an appropriate way, by staging anti-Moslem, anti-British, anti-police riots in Bombay. Appropriate because Bose was the renegade in whose behalf Japan sent an army of more than 100,000 men to invade India, with the avowed purpose of making him the Henry Pu-Yi of that teeming country.

The "nationalist" leader failed in his attempt to become Tokyo's puppet at Delhi because the Indian army wiped his Japanese column of invasion off the map, and out of existence almost to a man. Chandra, his sponsors announced, was killed somewhere in Asia. August, by whom and in what circumstances they did not explain. The riots are a fitting expression of the disappointed hopes, but undying race hatred, of his Bombay factionists.

The worst that could happen to the disturbers is that the Moslems, Sikhs and Pathan troops which annihilated Bose's Japanese army should be sent to restore order at Bombay. They are rioting only because they know that will not be done. Curse the British authorities as they may, and do, the militant Asiatics who want to make themselves masters of India's hundred tribes know that the authorities will not let Moslem troops avenge the wrongs done to Moslem civilians.

It would be a sad day for the race-rioting "nationalists" if they got what they are asking for.

Calgary people seem to have been getting jittery about what may happen when 5,000 gallons of nitro-glycerine are touched off in a Turner Valley oil well—probably some time this week. The papers have been explaining that, powerful as the stuff is, it is not atomic in its disintegrating effects. The object is to shatter the rock at the bottom of the well, in hope that crude oil will flow through into the hole. That it will do anything worse the experts deny.

When the steel-men went out at the United States mills 750,000 men quit work. Toward the end of the first week nearly half as many who were engaged in other industries have been thrown out of work because steel supplies are dwindling and in some cases have disappeared. That is a pretty grim reminder of what follows when a key industry stops for production. The even worse feature is that these indirect effects extend faster as time passes. By the end of another week the steel-men may be heavily outnumbered by lay-offs at factories which cannot keep going without steel.

War Years Called Forth Major Virtues of—

Heroism and Sacrifice

And if Human Society Is Not to Disintegrate in the Years of Peace Same Virtues In Pursuit of a Common Goal Must Now be Shown Working for Benefit of Mankind in General

By Dorothy Thompson

Years ago one of the great American philosophers, William James, wrote a little essay, called "A Moral Equivalent for War." Professor James differed somewhat from the predominant thinking of his age. He did not think that war was an "unmitigated" evil. If it were, he saw, it would have been abolished long ago. Professor James saw that war, with all its terrors and griefs, fulfilled the function of binding and of recalling men from selfish individualism to the community, awakening the sense of oneness, and the major virtues of heroism and sacrifice, so that while it released instincts of aggression, it compensated, to a remarkable degree, by releasing the opposite instincts, too, of comradely affection and self-abnegation. He did not, for this reason, become an apologist for war. But he did see that the abolition of war must lead to crass materialism and therewith to the disintegration of human societies, unless life in peace also called upon the major virtues in pursuit of a common goal.

Dorothy Thompson

Now see how right he was, as the loving solidarity that bound us together collapses, as our armies become hardly more than mobs, as management and labor lock the economy in a devastating struggle, as congress and the administration become, no longer one government, but two, and the masses of the people settle into apathy.

There was this to worry about during the war: many of the people, who in general had full confidence our habits of thought, seemed unaware that all unconsciously they were helping prepare this demoralization. I think of some of the advertisements we read, that held before the people's eyes peace in terms of illimitable rayons, gasoline, and houses equipped with every gadget . . . Peace as one big spending spree. It was painful to hundreds of thousands, who during the war had only one prayer, "Dear God, take care of him . . . Please, Dear God . . . Help him to live . . ," accompanied by those childlike promises one makes, "If only this be granted I will never complain. I will be good." No one who had a son in grievous battle thought about the new refrigerator. And if the dreaded telegram came, how could one console oneself except by faith and determination that it should not have been in vain, and that the country, the nation, would be worthy?

THE FANTASTIC American production was the result of that community effort. High wages and profits were the creation of a national effort directed toward a clear goal. Now we seem to think it was the other way around, that wages and/or profits created the victory and not the will to victory, the will to preserve and defend one's civilization, released the material power. We were seeking first the welfare of the nation, and all the rest was added unto us.

That is what we have to seek again and that is where I am disappointing—if the President will for give me—in his message on the state of the Union. I do not want to criticize the President, for he has an unenviable job, and no one, as far as I can see, is doing much to help him. But the people would help him—the people would help anybody who would articulate for them a new vision of the land that we could build, the great, beautiful country we could build, all together, as a living memorial forever, to our own heroes and our own noblest selves.

SOMETIMES WHEN I read what I have lately written I deprecate its pessimism, and indeed there is every visible reason for pessimism. But pessimism, the dictionary tells us, is the conviction that the world and mankind are more evil than good, and nothing in my experience of life justifies such a view. But for a nation of people to be at its best, it must be living as a community, bent on a goal that satisfies the longing and will to creation, to advance, to beauty, to love. It must have a vision, a frame of values, a mission, within which the inevitable frustrations and disappointments of individuals and groups, assume relative insignificance, as they do in war.

There must, as William James says, be a moral equivalent for war, or there is no creative peace, no peace of mind, or peace of human relationships, which can only come from the sense of the people that they are doing something together, larger and greater than their own interests or even their own immediate times.

Business Reaction Generally Unfavorable to—

Col. Drew's Proposals

Executives Prefer One Tax Rate and One Return Even If It Means Higher Rate. Believe Just Allocation to Provinces Can Be Worked Out

The Financial Post has been interviewing business executives to ascertain their reaction to Premier Drew's proposals to the Dominion-provincial conference. The Post publishes the following summary of the replies:

MANUFACTURER A: We prefer centralized taxation in federal hands. Our accounting system would have to be changed back to the pre-war system to arrive at figures provincially. This is more complicated and means much more work.

MANUFACTURER B: We prefer the present system. We would, of course, have no difficulty in dividing sales by provinces. The sales allocation method would be the only adequate and practical method of dividing tax revenue. But we are not taking Premier Drew's suggestion very seriously as we think it is just another step in bargaining.

MANUFACTURER C: It would be better to follow the Dominion's plan, even if it should cost a little more.

MANUFACTURER D: We think the provinces and Dominion should agree on a distribution of the tax revenue and save us the duplication of returns. It would be difficult to interpret what our sales within a province are. While our sales do split up now, an exact provincial breakdown would require more work. The present system is much simpler. Further duplication of auditors would be inevitable.

Manufacturer E: We prefer one tax rate and one return, even if it means a higher rate. While we have a variety of products with different profit margins, they would average out.

Manufacturer F: We like the idea of the present one-return system, but favor some just allocation of taxes to the different provinces on the basis of amount of business done. If this can be done without returning to the old system of making individual returns for every province we have no objection.

Retailer A: We see no difficulty in dividing sales provincially. For those with mail order business, a change in our accounting technique might be necessary.

MANUFACTURER G: It will mean a lot of extra work to keep our sales on a provincial basis. Unless each province has the same tax rate, it will mean, in effect, a return for each province, which is a lot of work. Formerly some provinces figured percentages right out to eight decimal points and then did not agree on our distribution. As our products sell at the same price across Canada, this division would not accurately represent the profit which we obtain in the different provinces. However, we could not attempt the accounting necessary to split up our profit provincially. This would require a separate organization for each province. Our margin of profit for sales near the factory is considerably higher than for more distant points where it is conceivable we might even show a loss.

Manufacturer H: There might be some conflict on the definition of what constitutes sales within a province. Experience in the U.S. shows a continual conflict with each state trying to show state sales at a maximum.

MANUFACTURER I: We hope they will retain the present system. The old system was just a headache with one continual string of audits. We already keep our sales provincially but think that there will be extra work in computing the returns, especially if the provinces have different tax rates which, in effect, would be the same as a return for each province.

Manufacturer J: We are interested in the plan that will give us the least amount of tax. The Drew plan is probably just a step in bargaining between the provinces and the Dominion. Formerly the tax rates varied from province to province, being as high as 10% in British Columbia, as compared with 2½% in Ontario and Quebec. To get a provincial break-up of sales, would involve extra accounting and return to the system in effect prior to the present Dominion-provincial agreement.

TRUST OFFICER A: It will be simpler and cheaper to have succession duties levied by the Dominion only. Double taxation on the same estate will be eliminated and calculations will be easier. There will be considerable difficulty in agreeing on a uniform act which in many ways will not be nearly as good as having a Dominion tax only. There will be difficulty in getting reciprocal arrangements on succession duties with other governments. In the case of the U.S.A., each province will have to deal with each state.

Trust Officer B: There is no doubt about one taxing authority being better but it creates the problem of distributing the tax revenue. The per capita distribution is the best way. However, there is a difference of feeling about centralization. There is some merit to decentralization. The whole question of provincial sovereignty is involved. In many responsible circles it is felt the provinces should not surrender any of their sovereignty in spite of any saving in work or expenses on succession duties.

Trust Officer C: It would be better to have one tax levied by the Dominion. The advantage from a single taxing authority will outweigh surrender of sovereignty by provinces. There will be trouble agreeing on a uniform act and even then there may be different rates of duty in each province.

This'n That

At the meeting of a local council there had been some discussion regarding the type of milk which should be provided for the school children.

To conclude the debate the chairman rose portentously to his feet. "Gentlemen," he declared, "what this town needs is a supply of clean, fresh milk, and the council should take the bull by the horns and demand it."

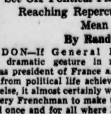
De Gaulle's Dramatic Resignation Big Topic—

Today in Europe

May Set Off Political Fireworks Which Will Have Far-Reaching Repercussions and May Even Mean Bloodshed.

By Randolph Churchill

LONDON—If General De Gaulle's dramatic gesture in resigning as president of France and retiring from political life achieves nothing else, it almost certainly will force every Frenchman to make up his mind once and for all where he stands on the fundamental issue of whether France is to be governed by Frenchmen or Russians.



CHURCHILL

It is by no means improbable that blood may flow before a decision finally is taken, for there certainly are thousands of Frenchmen who would rather die than live under alien rule. De Gaulle himself has shown by his record that he is one of these.

The fundamental principle underlying his "irrevocable" decision to quit French politics is his distrust of the French Communist Party. As long as the Socialists were prepared to side with George Bodault's moderate progressives on all important issues, De Gaulle was able to keep the Communists in check, despite the fact that they are the largest party in the National Assembly. The Socialists' decision to side with the Communists in framing the new Constitution was the capital issue for the General. Holding the views he does, he was bound to go, even though his retirement may be a disaster for France.

THE DECISION of the Socialists to co-operate with the Communists rather than with Bidault's party, the Popular Republicans, was based on tactical considerations rather than on principles. Indeed, they abandoned their principles for the sake of party advantage, and it is they who must bear the main responsibility for De Gaulle's departure from public life.

The storm is no longer the leader of the Socialist Party but, behind the scenes, he still is their most influential adviser and, through his paper "Populaire" he still is their leading propagandist. He has made his views on Communism striking. In one of his brilliant book "L'Echelle Humaine," which he wrote in a German prison in 1941 and which, though published only six months ago, already has run through twenty-one editions.

In this book, Blum attributes the decline in the popularity of the French Socialists to their pre-war alliance with Communists. In a striking passage, he wrote:

"Until the signing of the Ribbentrop-Molotov agreement, the Communist Party had been bitterly anti-Nazi. The very next day, they proclaimed their loyalty to Stalin who had become an ally of Hitler. It then became obvious that the party took their orders, lock, stock and barrel, from Moscow. It was no longer an international but a foreign national party. Naturally, all this submission to Stalin appeared as a betrayal of France."

AS A LIFELONG Socialist, Blum is of course an ardent internationalist. He has detected what so many other Socialists prefer to overlook—that the nature of Communism has changed entirely. This is the cardinal and dominant factor in all European politics today.

The Comintern has been abolished, but European Communists still take their orders blindly from Moscow. The party line is set out daily in "Pravda" and the Communists in London, Belgrade, Paris and Rome at once toe the line, not in the interests of some ideal of international co-operation but solely in the nationalistic interest of Russia.

It is because De Gaulle has clearly seen this issue and the deadly danger it involves for France that he has thrown up his job.

Food for Thought

Editor Bulletin: I would be glad to be permitted to bring the following brace of farm production paragraphs—just three years apart —to the notice of your readers. I have no comment to make except to suggest that there is "food for thought" in the views expressed:

(1)—"To a listener at this since-province food conference at Ottawa, the farm production program demonstrated a fact that will assume greater importance in the future. Canada will face the post-war world as an exporter of food and farm produce, on a scale even greater than after the last war. That will be the framework of the future problem of Canadian farming, and driving hard at reducing capacity built-up to meet war demands, will have to be an outlet in the days after the guns are silent."—(B.T.N. in "The Bulletin" of Dec. 17, 1942.)

(2)—"Mr. Hannam pointed out that the federal treasury has been paying a share of the food bill of the consumers of Canada. If, for instance, there is to be a heavy drawback for the millers on wheat or flour, the consumers would have been paying two cents a loaf more for their bread. It is unlikely that the consumers understand that. In milk they would have been paying five cents or a half cent more, had it not been for the government subsidies. These subsidies are not likely to be carried forward into peacetime, but how are we going to make the change-over? These subsidies are met by by-products of the price ceiling program. . . . Our economy would become lopsided again, if we abandoned the agricultural subsidies and left the prices where they were before." (Special Correspondence, "Manitoba Co-Operator," of Dec. 19, 1945.)

The solution to the above problems deserves the attention of all agricultural experts who are. They certainly throw a gleam of light on what Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley stated in the recent debate in the Commons that "Subsidies have been paid in the interests of the consumers." The rest of the Canadians believe that the farmer has been the beneficiary!

Which Way

Editor, Bulletin: No Socialist can question Professor H. J. Laski's authority to interpret Socialism, being a chairman of the British Labor Socialist Party, a professor at the Socialist London School of Economics, and the author of a score of Socialist works. In his recent book, "Faith, Reason and Civilization," Laski seeks to prove that science has displaced religion in reality and that the world must look to Russia for salvation.

Now as scientific progress subdues nature to the purpose of man, the idea of the heavenly city of man's making, seems to come out of the dream in which the reward of man's effort is not salvation in the life to come but happiness upon this earth itself." (P. 60.)

"Unless we claim that the churches will renew their hold on men's allegiance—and there is no serious evidence for the validity of such a claim—the Russian idea seems to be the only one from which all values will find the means of renewal." (P. 62.)

No one can read the Old Testament without the sense that it comes from a people to whom the spiritual world was vital; just as it is hard to read the New Testament and discover in the central figure of its narrative any deep concern for a workaday world." (P. 24.)

"The Christian faith, in its period of power overcame evil by consequence (poverty) by offering to the common man the secret consolation of heaven. But now that the basis upon which that faith was built has crumbled before critical examination by the churches, nor any other religious organization can hope to effect the work of renovation." (P. 72.)

Should we look to Russia for our ideals and moral standards? Have we lost our own faith and vision? Should we stand by the British Charter or did we fight for a totalitarian world? Are the Gospels out of date and unscientific? Are we to follow Christian ideals according to the Gospels, or communist doctrines according to Karl Marx?

Love on a One-Way Ticket

VANCOUVER SUN.

—One of the stories that is going the rounds in Canada in this age of rumors is that British war brides don't like Canada and want to go home. About 9,000 British girls came to Canada in the last three years" after marrying our soldiers. Only 29 have applied for a return passage to Britain.

Most of the war brides evidently still love their husbands and like their new country. In fact, everybody is happy about the whole thing, and no wonder. Could there be any better husbands than Canadian soldiers? With all our troubles is there any country right now which offers a better chance for the happiness of a young family?

Why Passports At All?

FROM THE LONDON FREE PRESS

It is a satisfactory commentary on Canadian-United States relations that the passport office of the federal department of external affairs is booming and that if the present rate of issue continues more than 50,000 Canadians will take out passports in 1946. The bulk of these will be used to visit the United States, since few people are able to go overseas. Within the memory of most of us, Canadians and Americans were able to visit each other without benefit—or inconvenience—of passports, and we got along together amazingly well. Those visits cemented our relations; we built up what Mr. Roosevelt would have called a "Good Neighbor" policy on our own with- out governmental regimentation and oversight. It was in 1940 that passports to cross the border became necessary and it has been a headache ever since. Last year this order was relaxed to apply only to persons who intended to stay in the U.S.A. more than 29 days. We on this North American continent are daily becoming more and more one people, and official red tape and other obstacles which tend to keep us apart hinder our mutual understanding and are inimical to Canadian-American good-will.

Big Troopship Ile de France Lands Veterans

HALIFAX, Jan. 28.—(CP)—The beginning of the end of Canada's repatriation program came into sharp focus here Saturday as the former French luxury liner Ile de France carrying 9,040 passengers steamed out of the turbulent North Atlantic into the calm of Halifax harbor. The big troopship was delayed more than a day by violent storms.

THOUSANDS MILLED about the entrance to the dockside as military police kept the jubilant crowd at bay while disembarkation was in progress.

Included among the passengers aboard were 7,500 army, 1,203 RCAF, 63 navy, 43 civilians and a spattering of merchant navy and British army personnel.

A few hours before the Ile de France arrived, another troopship, the Lady Rodney, docked with the 27th Armored Regiment (Sherbrooke Fusiliers) of Sherbrooke, Que., and the New Brunswick Rangers from Sussex, N.B.

THIS WAS THE Rodney's last repatriation run for she is to be changed over to carry war brides and children of Canadian veterans. Her crossing took 12 days, three more than scheduled, and many of the veterans were seasick during the voyage.

Aboard the Ile de France was a CWAC brass band which, during a tour of England and the continent, entertained fellow Canadians and thousands of other servicemen. The band will be broken up almost immediately.

Organized in 1942, the band grew from its original eight members to its present strength of 44 bandswomen. The band went overseas in June, 1945, after playing in more than 300 Canadian towns and cities.

BANDMASTER RSM. NADIA McKeen, (formerly Nadia Svarich of Vegreville, Alta.), who has been handling the baton ever since the band was formed, was loud in her praise of the treatment accorded the unit's members on the continent. While overseas, the bandmaster was married to Captain Gordon McKeen of Pictou, N.S., who is following his wife home on the troopship Scythia, scheduled to dock here Tuesday.

Dachau Criminals Are Spared Death

BAD TOELZ, Germany, Jan. 28.—(Reuters)—Three of the death sentences imposed on officials of Dachau concentration camp at a recent United States military trial, have been commuted to life imprisonment, and another prison sentence has been reduced from 10 to five years, Lt.-Gen. Lucien Truscott, commander of the United States 3rd Army, announced Saturday.

The sentences will now go to Gen. Joseph P. Macnarney, commander of the United States occupation forces in Germany, for confirmation.

THE PRISONERS whose death sentences were commuted to imprisonment were:

Dr. Hans Kurt Eisele on the ground that as head of the prisoners' surgical ward he attempted to improve conditions and obtain badly needed medicine.

Dr. Fridolin Karl Puhr, an Austrian, on the ground that as physician to SS troops, his only contact with the prisoners was as witness of some of the executions and signing death certificates.

A hangman named Mahl.

R. G. May Again Jersey Breeders' Assn. President

CALGARY, Jan. 28.—(CP)—R. G. May, dairy farmer southwest of Calgary, was re-elected president of the Alberta Jersey Breeders' Association at the annual meeting in Red Deer Saturday afternoon. J. A. E. Brown of Balzac was elected vice-president. Directors are: Charles Dixon, St. Albert Trail; Fed Yeabsley, Calgary; Thomas Baines, Red Deer; C. D. Enman, Wetaskiwin, and Percy Aitken, Millet.

Proposed changes in the method of conducting ROP tests were discussed. The meeting asked Mr. Dixon, prairie director of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, to insist that each breeder send in monthly records of the production of each cow. The new plan would do away with this.

Canada Said New Colossus Of the North

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Continued co-operation of the British Empire and the United States in solving the problems of the future, of peace or war, was urged by Premier George S. Pearkes of Ontario in an address Saturday night to the annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York.

MR. DREW EMPHASIZED that there was no inconsistency between growing kinship between Canada and the United States, and Canada's place within an even more strongly integrated British Commonwealth and Empire.

Speaking as an individual, he thought it likely that in time some form of empire council with a permanent secretariat would be established with merely advisory powers for the purpose of maintaining continuous and vigorous co-operation in working out the common economic and military problems of the whole Commonwealth and Empire.

The dinner also was addressed by Hon. Charles A. Eaton, native of pugwash, N.S., ranking minority member of the foreign affairs committee of the house, who has been a Republican member of the House of Representatives continuously for the last 22 years.

MR. EATON DECLARED that out of the war had come a new colussus of the north-Canada.

"Out of this war has been born the greatest and most promising young nation in the world. When you begin to contemplate the amazing economic and financial contributions of 12,000,000 people you are looking at a miracle."

Guests included Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to the United States, and Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, United States Navy.

Premier Drew reviewed the co-operation of the United States and the British Empire in the war.

"NOW THAT WE ENTER the first year of peace, are we," he asked, "to abandon all the advantages of continuing co-operation in tackling the less bloody but no less difficult tasks which lie ahead?

"We have all agreed that peace must be preserved by force if necessary. Are we to wait to make our plans for using force effectively until after peace has been destroyed?"

More Fliers Join Want-To-Go-Home Protest in India

NEW DELHI, Jan. 28.—(CP)—The "we-want-to-go-home" strike of RAF personnel gained 1,200 fresh adherents this weekend at Calcutta's Dumdum airfield, press reports said yesterday.

This brought to an estimated 2,000 the number of RAF personnel striking in India in protest to what airmen claimed was a slower rate of demobilization than for the British army and navy.

The unrest at Mauripur, it was reported, spread Saturday to an establishment in nearby Karachi but was settled during the day. The new Karachi incident was said to involve only ranks below sergeant, which also was the case at Dumdum.

(The air ministry said in London Friday that the strike, reported to involve 2,000 RAF men at the big base of Mauripur had ended.)

Malayan Campaign Inquiry Demanded

By J. D. HOLDSWORTH

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28.—(CP)—The publication in Australia of Winston Churchill's speech to a secret session of the British House of Commons in April, 1940, after the fall of Singapore to the Japanese, has led to demands here for full inquiry into the Malayan campaign early in the Pacific war.

LT.-GEN. GORDON BENNETT, commander of Australian forces in Malaya at that time, said Saturday that the inquiry should cover not only the fall of Singapore but "the suffering and loss of human life".

Edward J. Ward, minister of external territories, said he would ask the federal cabinet to hold a full inquiry.

Sir Earle Page, a member of the federal house of representatives who was in London as an Australian envoy to the British war cabinet at the time of Singapore's capitulation, said a royal commission was due fighting men and their leaders so that praise or blame could be awarded justly.

VARICOSE VEINS

The term varicose veins means an unnaturally swollen condition of the veins and usually refers to the veins of the legs. These veins bring the blood back up the legs and are consequently working against gravity. As a means of keeping the blood from flowing backwards, these veins are provided with valves.

In severe cases, the disfigurement from varicose veins will be pronounced, and the veins stand up in twisted, tortuous ridges. Such veins cause the patient considerable distress as he would be unable to do much walking or to do any work which requires standing for long periods.

There are several causes of varicose veins but any mechanical cause which will produce pressure on the veins as they come from the legs and which will interfere with the return of blood must be considered. I regard prolapsus of the abdominal organs as the main cause, however, if the patient is troubled with severe constipation this will serve as a contributing cause.

When the blood fails to escape from the legs, the veins fill up with a column of blood which is stagnant. The walls of the veins in time become weakened and are not able to resist the strain placed upon them. The veins are stretched or dilated and the stretching pulls the valves apart, allowing the blood to seep backward. The veins then become distended with blood. The cure consists in the removal of the mechanical causes which once more allows the blood to circulate as it should.

The fast is of value as the first step toward securing relief, and should be followed by a careful diet. If prolapsus is present this must be overcome. Exercise of the abdominal muscles, and manipulative treatments over the abdomen may be required. By fasting, dieting, manipulation, and exercise it is possible to give the patient enough relief so that he will not be greatly troubled with varicose veins and will remain comfortable. It is very difficult to bring about what could be called a complete cure by any treatment the patient is able to use at home.

However, local treatment given with ice is a good home treatment which often brings partial relief. Several times a day, ice is to be applied to the varicose veins and this will strengthen the walls as the ice will cause them to contract. Hold the ice against the affected veins with a towel and press the ice directly against the swollen part. Continue for 3 or 4 minutes and use the treatment at least twice a day.

In severe cases, such methods of treatment as the injection method, removal of part of the veins, or the wearing of a rubber stocking, may be necessary. Different methods must be used in different cases, to suit the needs of the patient. The injection method may produce good results in some cases but should be avoided in others. If you are in doubt as to which method to rely upon the best plan is to talk the matter over with your physician and secure his advice after he has examined the veins.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Blame Heydrich For Bomb Plot

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Reinhard Heydrich, the assassinated "hangman" of Bohemia-Moravia, was accused yesterday by a bitter enemy on the German Army general staff of staging the 1939 beer cellar explosion in Munich in order to shatter a peace movement among high army officers.

Heydrich was accused by Gen. George Thomas in a statement to American authorities of stage-managing the deadly drama while Hitler was safely absent.

A BOMB EXPLODED in the Burgerbrau in Munich Nov. 8, 1939, killing eight obscure Nazi party members, shortly after Hitler and high party leaders left. Hitler had just commemorated the 16th anniversary of the abortive Munich putsch with a bitter speech against Britain.

The Nazi propaganda ministry of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels charged that the bombing was the foiled plot of the British secret service to assassinate Hitler.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

THAT fracas during the third period of Saturday night's exhibition at the Arena and which was followed by the Independent League team's leaving the ice, certainly added no lustre to the game of hockey as played in Edmonton.

True enough the all-star club did come back, but only after the game had been delayed several minutes. But why bother with referees at all if club's are reserving unto themselves the right to pass upon the rulings of officials whose appointment was either approved, or at least agreed to prior to the commencement of the game?

SATURDAY NIGHT'S trouble arose following the automatic major to Bill Gadsby when Bill Dawe received a head injury from a high stick. Gadsby later was given a match misconduct for leaving the penalty box, but if Colin Kilburn called him the name the Canadian defenceman says he used then it is little to be wondered Gadsby did climb out with an urge to tangle.

Kilburn drew a major and misconduct and later it was announced over the loud speaker, presumably at the request of the officials that the "Independents would not play if Kilburn had to serve a penalty." The officials of course did not and the All-Stars headed for their dressing room.

WHILE IT DOES not justify the action of the coach in pulling his team, it is only fair that Jimmy Graham's position should be made clear.

Jimmy, whose standing in hockey in Edmonton always has been accepted, stated after the game in explaining his action, that he had sent Kilburn across to the penalty box with instructions to have a call for a doctor announced over the loud speaker. Excepting what he saw that was all he knew about what had gone over at the box.

"I'M NOT GOING to say anything," were Jack McDonald's first words when a very recent journey to Calgary was reverently mentioned Sunday evening. "But we'll see Tuesday if they really meant it," quickly followed.

Jack agrees that the Stampeders held a wide margin during the second period, but stoutly declares the third period avalanche is a fair reflection of the actual play.

CALGARIANS were really clicking on their passes and every shot seemed to either hit the corner or clip the posts. Flyers on the main tained had a reasonably fair share of the play despite the score, but their shooting was off, there being several misses by inches in addition to the wide ones.

Glance at the summary reveals that 10 Stampeders shared in the scoring, indicating a great distribution of scoring. Only four Flyers—Carse, McDonald, Devicq and Stanley—got into the points columns.

SEVENTY-THREE out-of-town and 13 city rinks had sent in their entries up to Saturday night, Secretary McCool revealed at yesterday's final meeting of the executive of the Alberta Curling Association. There were 91 visiting skips a year ago and James says there'll be more this time and his estimate of the total entry for the annual bonspiel which opens next Monday morning is 178.

The executive wishes to emphasize that next Sunday's church service at McDougall Until ed is for ALL curlers, not merely those intending to take part in the bonspiel. Rev. E. B. Brundage of Daysland will be the minister, with Dr. A. K. McMinn assisting.

Caps Lose Another
Three Goals in Overtime Give Saskatoon 7-4 Win

SASKATOON, Jan. 28.—(CP)—Saskatoon Elks staged an uphill fight to defeat Regina Capitals 7-6 in an overtime Western Canada Senior Hockey League game here Saturday night.

Down 4-1 at the 15-minute mark of the second period, Elks scored twice in the remaining two minutes of that period, got the tieing goal in the third and then drove in three counters in overtime.

The victory raised Elks to within two points of the second-place Edmonton Flyers and nine points behind the league-leading Calgary Stampeders.

JIMMY BRENNAN and Max McNab with a pair each, Reg Ullyot, Cy Rouse and Bud Craig were the Elks' scorers. Ken Stewart, Regina playing coach, in his best local display of the season, accounted for three of his teams goals and Chuck Taylor netted the fourth on a pass from Stewart.

Elks got the opening goal with Brennan doing the trick on assists by Ullyot and Craig, but Stewart banged in two before the period ended. He bagged his first counter off a rush with Taylor and Jack Forsey and the second off a passing play with Taylor.

THE SAME REGINA players—Taylor and Stewart—produced two more goals in the second period. Taylor passing to Stewart for the first and firing a high shot for the second after a lone rush.

Pat Lundy set up Craig and McNab for both Saskatoon counters in this period and Ullyot tied it up on Brennan's pass in the third, scoring their best hockey of the night in the overtime session. McNab, Rouse and Brennan drove shots home. Houston, Regina goalie played brilliantly in the Regina nets despite the seven which eluded him.

Red Deer Beats Calgary Juniors Exhibition Game

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, Jan. 28—Red Deer Ramblers eked out an 8-7 victory over Calgary Junior Royals here on Saturday night, but not before they staged a remarkable comeback to punch home six goals in the third period after they appeared hopelessly beaten.

The Royals enjoyed an edge on play in the first two periods, their fast brand of hockey netting them a 4-1 margin by the close of the first chapter. They were out in front 6-2 at the time the final spasm opened and increased it to 7-2 within the first minute and a quarter of play in the third.

The downtrodden Ramblers decided they had had about enough at that stage. They re-organized their lines and launched a terrific attack which tore the southerners apart. By 9:34 in the period Red Deer had knocked the count at 7-7 and fired in the winning counter with only four seconds remaining to play.

The third period rally by the locals was topped off just four seconds before the end of the game when Goodacre banged in a pass from R. Holmes to give Red Deer the one-goal edge.

Roll Into High Gear In Third

CALGARY, Jan. 28—(CP)—Unleashing a furious display of scoring power that produced six goals in the closing period, Calgary Stampeders Saturday night smacked Edmonton Flyers 10-4 before 5,000 Western Canada Senior Hockey League fans.

The front line pair of Bunny Dame and Dunc Cairns took over pace-setting duties for Stamps, each getting two goals and as many assists. Dunc Grant snared two counters, Fisher, Desmarias, Wilder and defence man Art Michaluk one each while Ken Hunter and Bob Brownridge assisted three times each and Fisher, Desmarais and Wilder one each.

EDMONTON'S Bobby Carse clung to his individual scoring lead in the circuit by netting two of the Flyer goals, both on assists by McDonald, Stan Devicq got the others, one solo and the other assisted by Don Stanley.

Each team scored once when the opposition was a man short, Carse getting his first goal in the opening session to put the Flyers out in front while Michaluk was off and Grant scoring two minutes later while Lane was warming the penalty bench.

ALTHOUGH HELD even in the scoring, their lone goal being matched by Stanley, Edmonton Stampeders showed a wide margin on play in the hectic second period but ran into a rut of "near misses." Time and again the Calgarians were in on McAuley only to miss the net by inches, hit a post, bounce off and give the opponents a skate or have a Flyer stumble into the way of a pass, sheer luck saving Edmonton from being smothered under at least 10 goals in the period.

The homesters broke the jinx only in the last minute of the frame when Dame circled the net before beating McAuley. From then on in it was all Calgary as Brownridge clicked with a display of checkerboard passing reminiscent of Trail Smoke Eaters at their pre-war peak.

Rangers End Losing Streak In Stopping Red Wings 5-2

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — The downtrodden New York Rangers snapped a five-game losing streak last night by walloping the slipping Red Wings 5-2, before a crowd of 15,247 in Madison Square Garden.

It was the third straight licking for the fourth-place Red Wings, now only four points in front of the onrushing Toronto Maple Leafs.

Phil Watson

With the teams tied 1-1 midway in the second period, the Rangers scored four goals in a row before the Wings could get their final tally.

Phil Watson put the Rangers in front, 2-1, on a play from Alf Pike at the 10:24 mark of the second stanza, and Cal Gardner followed up by smacking in a pair before the frame ended. Watson rapped in his second counter at the 8:58 mark of the third to run up the game. Harry Watson accounted for the Wing's second score on a pass from Murray Armstrong at 10:27.

Independents and Canadians Tie 5-5 in Hockey Exhibition

Bobby Graham's goal three seconds from the final whistle gave Independent all-stars a 5-5 tie with Canadians in a fast exhibition hockey game played at the Arena on Saturday night before 2,196 paying customers.

The juniors were out in front 3-0 at the end of the first period but Independents cut the margin to 4-2 in the middle session. Then after spotting their opponents another goal early in the third frame, came back with three, the deadlocking counter coming with Canadians shorthanded.

Vince Bannon, Doug Anderson, Cy Thomas, Bill Black, and Harry Groves did the scoring for the juniors, while Independents' goals were evenly divided amongst five players, Louis Holmes, Russ Klesko, Ken Lee, Benny Klingspon and Bobby Graham.

JUST AFTER the 12-minute mark in the third period and with the score 5-3 for Canadians, the Independents left the ice protesting a major and misconduct given Kilburn following the fracas with Gadsby left the penalty box and for which a match misconduct was tacked into the automatic major he already had received.

The all-stars eventually came back and held quite a margin on the play for the remainder of the game. Klingspon scored at 10:25 following a gang attack during which Murray made several brilliant saves.

THE TYING GOAL came from a breakaway just after Bill McLennan had kicked out a close-in shot from Bill Pettinger. Holmes secured possession and went all the way, getting good skating interference from Graham which prevented Groves the only Canadian in position to smother a check from doing so.

Murray blocked the shot, but Graham picked up the rubber and banged it in. Independents outshot Canadians 15 to 5 in the final period.

Ab plans to leave here on Feb. 1 for Saskatoon where there are outdoor track facilities.

His entry has been endorsed by the Recreation Board, the Jasper Place League, president of which is Stan Melton sponsoring a campaign which will assist Edmonton's being represented at the Dominion meet. Mrs. E. Sagness, 10395 144 street is secretary of the Jasper Place Community League.

Last Competition Ladies' Bonspiel Finishes Today

Semi-finalists were declared Saturday in the Benjyne (etter) competition, last event to be played off in the Northern Alberta Ladies Curling Association bonspiel being held at the Granite rink.

Mrs. P. B. (Pat) Rose, winner of the Grand Challenge, who now is unbeaten in eight games in the spiel, advanced into the semi-finals on Saturday along with three other skips: Mrs. L. S. Leclerc of Alberta avenue, Mrs. B. J. Tansey of Granite and Mrs. M. Cumming of Alberta avenue.

Mrs. Rose was to meet Mrs. Leclerc and Mrs. Tansey was to oppose Mrs. Cumming's rink in the semi-final this morning at 8:30 o'clock. The survivors would then clash at 11 o'clock in the final.

To get into the semi-final on Saturday Mrs. Rose won over Mrs. W. Shafer of Royal, Mrs. Leclerc beat Mrs. Gordon Bunnin of Alberta Avenue, Mrs. Tansey won over Mrs. A. Christiansen of Royal and Mrs. Cumming eliminated Mrs. F. Harris, also of the Royal—all quarter-final games.

It has not been possible to play the points competition during the bonspiel so it has been decided that every curler should play for this on her own ice. This must be played and the club-representative must have the results in before Feb. 15. Each score has to be certified by a referee.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 25, 1940.

Sir:

As Mr. Tom Green, former Hockey Director of the South Side Athletic Association, has explained his position over the difficulty of the South Side junior hockey team, the Executive of the organization feels that they should also explain their position.

The facts surrounding the early application of Don Robertson to play with the Coast are essentially the same as those stated by Mr. Green in that the South Side Athletic Association refused a permit for him to play at the Coast at the request of the AAHA. He subsequently returned to Edmonton and it is his intention to attempt to play for the team, and probably most hockey players would have taken the same attitude under similar circumstances. As a result, his boy, who has grown up in hockey in this city, was refused a release from the game, until a transfer was given.

The South Side Athletic Association, from its inception, has had only one aim, and that is to enable boys to play various games. Mr. Green refused any request for a transfer to call an executive meeting for its consideration. When some other members found that there was a time element in the transfer the members were contacted by telephone, and all members of the Executive agreed that the release should be signed. As a result this was carried out and the release signed by the officers of the organization according to ordinary constitutional procedure. Consequently, Mr. Green resigned as Director, which he had a perfect right to do if he so wished.

We fail to see how this created any injustice to any one. Mr. Green's position would not have the authority to sign the release. He further claims that the Executive have forfeited their rights to act in the matter because of failure to attend hockey games, but the Executive was there from inactive as all the financing and the appointment of coaches, etc., was carried out by that body. We fully realize the very valuable service which Mr. Green has rendered to our organization, and regret that his attitude has caused him to take the present action, but any democratic body would have to be governed by the majority of opinion. We realize, also, that our boys were seriously handicapped by previous loss of players and because of their age and lack of experience, but there was no criticism from the Executive on their failure to make good. We, therefore, fail to see how any injustice was done to anyone or why the voluntary resignation of the Director of Hockey should have affected the team.

The South Side Athletic Association intends to carry on in spite of these events and to continue to give South Side boys the opportunity of getting into organized sport.

Yours,
EXECUTIVE OF SOUTH SIDE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

Officials of the South Side Athletic Association are: President, Harry D. Ainlay; vice-president, Bob Armstrong; secretary, D. Menzies; treasurer, R. J. Muter; executive, Stan Sims, Dr. A. O. Hawkins, C. S. Scanlon, A. M. Allen.

Vets to "Call Bluff" Calgary Landlords

CALGARY, Jan. 28—(CP)—A plan to "call the landlords' bluff" in the rent to a veteran campaign starting in Calgary Monday received the endorsation of the Calgary No. 1 branch, Canadian Legion yesterday afternoon. It was introduced by F. C. Colborne, MLA.

Meeting in Memorial Hall for annual election of officers, the members again chose Ralph W. Henderson as president.

In an appeal to the Legion to back up the campaign Mr. Colborne felt that "highly exaggerated" reports of undesirable tenants and high legal costs involved in obtaining an eviction were being used as excuses by property owners not to rent to veterans.

TO OVERCOME THESE excuses he proposed the following motion which, after considerable discussion, was passed by the members:

"That the Canadian Legion undertake to set up an organization whereby any veteran who wishes to avail himself of accommodation will place on deposit with the Canadian Legion, as evidence of good faith, a specified sum of money to help cover the cost of eviction and that the Canadian Legion undertake the rest of the obligation to meet any additional cost of the eviction of the undesirable tenant and that the No. 1 branch set aside a sum of $5500 for this purpose."

"We can now say to the landlords," Mr. Colborne said, "if tenants are objectionable eviction will cost you nothing."

Hlynka Protests Plan to Deport Many Ukrainians

TORONTO, Jan. 28—(CP)—Anthony Hlynka, Social Credit member of parliament for Vegreville, Alta., said in an interview Saturday, that he thought it "rather presumptuous" on the part of the Soviet Union to take it for granted that people, who have come from territories annexed by the Soviet during the war, would be handed over to Russia.

Mr. Hlynka, who arrived from Ottawa, Saturday, was commenting on the news that 500,000 Ukrainians in British, American and French occupation zones in Germany, would be deported to the Soviet Union. The stocky, vigorous Ukrainian-Canadian who represents the 40,000 Ukrainians in Northern Alberta planned to plead for the cause of these European Ukrainians at a public meeting Sunday sponsored by the Ukrainian-Canadian committee.

Sask. Plans Carry Out Health Scheme

SASKATOON, Jan. 28—(CP)—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan has intimated that his government proposes to proceed with its health service plan whether or not the Dominion government lends its assistance. Mr. Douglas stated his government plans were so drafted as to fit in with the Dominion's proposals to the provinces regarding health services.

They will live in Windsor, Ont. The marriage between the popular war hero, who lost both legs below the knees while fighting overseas, and Miss Adamson, Vancouver beauty parlor operator, culminated a 13-year friendship which started in Edmonton where Maj. Tilson was a drug salesman.

Members of the parish of Holy Rosary Parish in North Toronto, where the couple were married, last October presented Maj. Tilson with a trust fund as an advance wedding present.

The ROAD AHEAD

by Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

FROM complaints I have received from various parts of this province it seems that there has been considerable misunderstanding concerning the tax relief granted to members of His Majesty's Canadian Armed Forces by the Alberta "Soldiers' Relief Act" of 1940. In certain cases municipalities have refused to grant members of the forces the exemption from taxation provided under the Act, and on the other hand certain persons have continued to enjoy these exemptions long after they had ceased to be entitled to them.

I Saw Today

AND

Charlie Miller giving his views on current events to a friend on Jasper; Gordon Campbell on the South Side; Tommy Barford discussing the South Alberta Regiment with a friend on 106 street; Albert E. Barrett walking east on Jasper; Nora Waters waiting for traffic signals to change at Jasper and 101 street; George Kelly discussing the coming Glenora carnival with a friend.

It's Smart to Wait For Traffic . . .

It's neither wise nor smart to rush across the street and trust to luck that you'll not slip nor fall while doing it, and so become a casualty. Wait for traffic and cross in safety.

ROAD REPORTS

Roads at Edson, Cherhill, Lac la Biche, Two Hills, St. Paul, Wainwright, Vermilion, Thorsby and Barrhead are OK, but side roads at Barrhead are blocked; Athabasca, High Prairie and Fort St. John are heavy, side roads at Fort St. John are blocked; drifting at Slave Lake; tough at Peace River; drifted at Fairview and Beaverlodge; filled in and snowing at Grande Prairie, and blocked at Dawson Creek.

IN GENERAL, UNDER the act, the "home property" of a soldier, sailor or airman is exempt from taxation from the beginning of the year in which he joined the forces until the end of the year in which he was discharged, or killed.

It does not apply to all proprety owned by a soldier. In the case of subdivided land it is limited in size to four contiguous lots, one house, or two quarter sections. If a soldier owns more property than this he may choose which part of it he wishes to be exempt. In case he fails to make the choice the municipality must make the choice on the basis which they believe the soldier would have done—which would naturally be to choose the one on which the taxes were highest, or which was the most valuable.

TO QUALIFY for the exemption from taxation the serviceman must have owned, or held an assessable interest under an agreement for sale, on the first day of September, 1939, or for six months before he joined the services if he acquired it after that date. He can also claim

Police at Work On Burglaries Reported Here

City police are continuing investigations into two week-end breakins in the city. The business premises entered were the Market Building on 82 avenue, and Patry's service station at 11704 95 street. Only 30 cents was taken from the service station, while a check-up is being made to determine if anything was taken from the Market Building.

ROBBERY at the Market Building was discovered late Saturday night by Constable J. C. Mitchell, who found the east door to stall 6 open. A small glass showcase in the stall was broken and a fish box was moved to the door leading to the main part of the building in order that entry could be gained through the transom. Wire netting over the transom was pushed off.

Break-in at the service station was discovered by William Pairy, owner of the establishment, at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. Entry to the building was gained by breaking a pane of glass in a window at the northwest corner of the garage. A pane of glass was also broken in the office door. About 30 cents was taken from the till.

POLICE REPORTS showed that owners of several business establishments in the city were making things easy for would-be thieves with constables reporting 10 business establishments left insecure. Reports showed that in each case in all cases the doors were secured by the constables before they continued their patrols.

In the early history of printing only black ink was used. When a color was wanted for initials or ornamentation, it was hand-lettered

H. H. CRAWFORD

H. H. Crawford, Well-Known City Resident, Dies

H. H. Crawford, well known South Edmonton business man, and pioneer resident of the city, died at his home Sunday after a brief illness. He was 67 years old.

MR. CRAWFORD, who was returning officer for Edmonton in the last three provincial elections, and returning officer for Edmonton East in the 1935 Dominion election, came to Alberta in 1898 from Brampton, Ont., and lived continuously in Edmonton since 1903.

He took an active part in politics in the early days of this city, and was a Conservative member of the provincial legislature, being elected as member for South Edmonton in the general election of 1913, and re-elected in the 1917 general election. He was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1927 general election on the Conservative ticket.

HE ALSO WAS A MEMBER of the first council of the town of Strathcona after its incorporation as a city.

He is survived by his wife, five daughters, Mrs. A. "McFarlane, Peace River; Mrs. J. E. Naubert, Mrs. Darrel Robertson, Mrs. Lorne Bissell and Helen Crawford, all of Edmonton, and one son, Able Seaman Robert Crawford, Calgary.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mary R. Crawford, Edmonton; Mrs. O. A. Peaker, Brampton, Ont.; Margaret Crawford, Seattle, Wash., and Florence Crawford, also of Brampton.

HAINSTOCK & SON LTD., are in charge of funeral arrangements which will be announced later.

100 Army Veterans Back in Edmonton

More than 100 ex-service men who had crossed the Atlantic on the latest trip of the troopship Mauretania arrived here Sunday on two trains. A group of 28 arrived in the afternoon on a CNR special train bound for the west coast, and the remainder were passengers on the regular CPR train from Calgary, arriving just after 11 p.m.

They were met by the official Welcome Home groups on both occasions and were rapidly turned over to waiting relatives and friends who crowded both stations to greet them. Those awaiting transportation to district homes were found billets by Maj. David Rea of the Salvation Army.

They reported the ocean trip rough, but the turbulence of the Atlantic, though it had upset them physically, had little effect on their morale, since it was a "home bound" voyage.

Survey Export Possibilities of Western Canada

On a Canada-wide survey of export potentialities in the field of agriculture, J. H. Tremblay, newly-appointed agricultural trade commissioner for Northwest Europe is spending a few days in Edmonton, contacting federal and provincial government officials of the department of agriculture and touring food processing plants in the area.

Mr. Tremblay, who formerly represented the constituency of Grouard in the Alberta Legislature, enlisted as lieutenant in the Loyal Edmonton Regiment in September, 1939 and was the first member of any Canadian legislation bodies to enter the services. Later in the war he became the only Canadian on the staff of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, as agricultural officer with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

He was then stationed in Paris, to which city he will be returning when he takes over his new civilian duties.

THE PRESENT SURVEY is being made, he said, so that he will be able to inform European governments or business firms who wish to import food-stuffs, of the possibilities of buying their needs in Canada.

East and West coast fisheries also come under the jurisdiction of the department he will represent.

ASKED ABOUT the possibilities for export of fish from lakes in Northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories he pointed out that fish from these areas are flown to American markets and that there was no processing plants in the country which could prepare them for export to a European market.

The purpose of making personal contacts with producers and processors in Canada is to establish a liaison between them and the customers they will be serving in Europe, Mr. Tremblay concluded.

Says Socialism Is on Agenda For Dominion

Socialism is on the agenda in Canada and can come in our time yet, and the Labor-Progressive party is the party that will bring it to this province and to Canada, declared Ben Swankey, LPP provincial leader, at a Lenin memorial meeting held in the Memorial Hall Sunday evening. More than 500 persons were in attendance.

ALTHOUGH LENIN died about 22 years ago, he still lives in the hearts of millions throughout the world, and the teachings that he gave are the property of the working class people of the world," stated Mr. Swankey.

"The first week in which we can honor Lenin is for each of us, from day to day, to help bring about unity between the people of Canada to gain our immediate demands, to achieve our common objective—socialism," the speaker pointed out.

Mr. Mary Hunter, an executive of the LPP, spoke on the party's current national housing campaign, and the petition which accompanies which is now being circulated, and show their support to the campaign. The petition will be presented to the legislature when it meets in February.

STRING ENSEMBLE provided Russian music during the evening, under the leadership of Miss Edna Tarabas. A film depicting scenes of the Leningrad music hall concluded the evening.

Scores Education System in Canada

The education system now in use in Canada needs revamping so that today's youth may be able to cope with the advances in science and industry, declared A. P. Tingley, supervisor of industrial arts, department of education, when speaking to members of the Edmonton Taxpayers Protective Association in the public library Friday night.

MR. TINGLEY STATED that composite schools were a step in the right direction but there should be more of them and every school should have a department where a student, not wanting to become a professional man, may have the opportunity of becoming a tradesman.

The speaker said that the present day system does not give the student a choice; they are forced to take academic subjects, and must get their credits in these before they can get to a higher grade, whereas many who are not suited for the academic subjects may be excellent students in some trade.

"AS PROOF of their lack of interest in the academic education today, we see the children in their teens turning to newspapers, movies and radio to obtain their modern education that should be available in the schools," Mr. Tingley pointed out.

Chairman of the meeting was Lloyd Wood, president of the association.

More Fire Alarms Plague Fire Crews

The epidemic of false alarms which has been plaguing the city fire department recently, continued over the week-end with equipment rolling to two false blazes. An alarm was turned in at 10:25 p.m. Saturday from a box at 126 avenue and 127 street. Firemen were again called out to a non-existent blaze Sunday night with an alarm being turned in at 10:15 p.m. from a call box at 114 street and 102 avenue.

They Run Afoul of Law

Two Would-Be Frankie Sinatras Find Yen to "Croon" Is Costly

The two nattily dressed lads standing in the dock at city police court Saturday had a "yen" to sing. Maybe they had read about all that money Bing Crosby makes with his crooning, and after all, even Frankie Sinatra gets paid. But instead of collecting they paid.

THEY TOLD MAGISTRATE A. I. MILLAR, KC, that they were on their way home after having a few "quick ones" in a local "pub," when they heard choir music coming from the Blue hall, 10628 96 street. Feeling in the mood for a little sing-song they entered and joined in the singing.

Then the trouble started. The Canadian Ukrainian Association was holding a choir practice for a forthcoming concert and were singing hymns, but the two newcomers harmonized on O' Canada.

"We were really enjoying that song," they told the magistrate. But the choir was having some trouble. They asked the men to leave. Getting no results they called the police. Constables B. Nicholson and D. Shaw arrived and sent the would-be crooners on their way. In fact, they sent them off home three times. All being quiet the police left, but were soon called back again.

ON ARRIVAL, THE OFFICERS found the same two men back in the hall. So they were taken off to the police station and charged with being intoxicated while the choir went back to practicing hymns.

"We went back in to see if we could go back in," they said.

One man was fined $20 and costs, while $25 and costs was levied against his companion.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the report of gin from the rationed last in Alberta?

ANSWERS

BILL GORDON, trucker: It is in line with the steady removal of wartime controls and restrictions and the sooner they get them all out of the way the better.

HAL DONALDSON, clerk: I suppose the reason is that stocks are plentiful to meet the demands. The time should not be far away when the rationing should be removed from all other commodities.

ALBERT WILSON, accountant: I suppose that the demands have not equalled the supply and there are ample stocks available. Probably if rationing were removed altogether stocks would prove ample for the demand.

Reporter Gets Rare Garment

Shirt Lost at Rally

When a man "loses his shirt" it is generally understood to mean he has fallen upon difficult financial days, but when that shirt is lost at a CCF political meeting it adds a rather engaging touch to the mystery of its meaning.

However, it is not believed that the loser of the shirt at Friday's meeting addressed by M. J. Coldwell, MP, national leader of the CCF, was suffering the effects of financial dispossession.

The shirt was new. It was expensive. It was found by an honest Edmonton Bulletin reporter. It was not the reporter's size of shirt. By phoning 26121 and describing same its rightful owner may again come into possession of this all-too-rare garment.

"Guess Who!"

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Young Women Pay Price By Marrying Old Men

Girl Asks Should She Marry Man 30 Years Older or a Boy Her Own Age With Whom She Is in Love But Who Gets a Small Salary

DEAR MISS DIX: I am going with a nice-looking man who is 30 years older than I am and who wants to marry me. I love a boy of my own age, but he gets only a small salary, while the old man can feather my nest. The old man thinks I am crazy about him because I've got him fooled, but do you think that if I marry him I will be able to keep it up? In business he is smart and keen. It is only with young women that he is an easy mark.

Do you advise me to hang on to the old man, or marry the poor boy? WORRIED.

ANSWER: What price love and self-respect and happiness? If you sell yourself to the old man, you throw them into the trade and, it seems to me, a few pretty clothes and perhaps a car are a poor exchange for all you give.

MANY POOR girls are tempted, as you are, to marry for money. They are tired of standing behind a counter or pounding a typewriter. They long for the clothes and the gewgaws that will set off their beauty. They long for swanky night clubs and gay parties, and think that they will be perfectly happy if they can have the things that money buys.

But the irony of the thing is that the luxuries they buy with their bodies and their souls turn to dead sea fruit in their hands. They find that having nothing to do is the most boring thing in the world; that they can get surfeited with clothes until they loathe them, just as they can lose their appetites when they are gorged on food; that people do not look with envy upon the young wife of a rich old man, for they know she is his only by right of purchase, and they have pity and scorn for her.

So that is where you will be if you sell yourself to your rich man. You won't get the happiness you think you will out of money. And you will find it a weary job to keep an old man entertained and amused.

MY EARNEST advice to you is to call the sale off. Wait for your young man and help him make his fortune.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband has just come back from Belgium. He tells me that he found a woman over there whom he really loves. He hasn't asked for a divorce and he doesn't want me to leave him because he says he can't get over there anyway, and she can't come here for a long time. He also says he is too old to start a new home and a family. He admits that after a long time he might feel differently about this woman, but how can he when they are writing back and forth all the time?

I am tired of having their letters thrown in my face and hearing about her constantly. What shall I do?

A VERY UNHAPPY WIFE.

ANSWER: Your husband is evidently a polygamist by temperament. He wants to hold on to you as a good everyday wife who will cook and clean and mend and make a comfortable home for him and to keep the Belgium charmer as a sort of Sunday wife, so to speak. I think you are foolish to stand for any such treatment. Tell him he has to put up, or shut up, and that you are not going to stand around humbly waiting for him to throw the handkerchief to you when he gets tired waiting for the other woman.

WHAT HE NEEDS is a good, stiff jar that will shake him out of his conceit that he is one of the ladykillers who can have any woman he wants.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 19 and my trouble is that I seem to giggle at all times, no matter whether there is anything to giggle about or not. Very often I am overcome by my giggles and I have to leave the room, which is very embarrassing. Also, it annoys my fiance. What can I do about it?

ANSWER: Giggling is just a matter of nerves, but it does make anyone seem silly, and I advise you to try to do something about it. Go and talk the matter over with your doctor and he may be able to suggest a remedy.

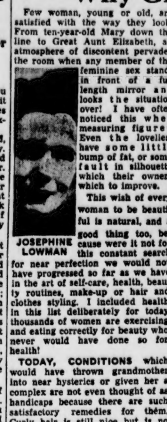
Dumb-Bells by Gar

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN—

Why Grow Old?



Few woman, young or old, are satisfied with the way they look. From ten-year-old Mary down the line to Great Aunt Elizabeth, an atmosphere of discontent pervades the room when any member of the feminine sex stands in front of a full length mirror and looks the situation over. I have often noticed this when measuring figures. Even the loveliest have some little lump of fat, or some fault in silhouette which their owners wish to improve.

This wish of every woman to be beautiful is natural, and a good thing too, because were it not for this constant search for near perfection we would not have progressed so far as we have in the art of self-care, health, beauty routines, make-up or hair and clothes styling. I included health in this list deliberately for today thousands of women are exercising and eating correctly for beauty who never would have done so for health!

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

TODAY, CONDITIONS which would have thrown grandmother into near hysterics or given her a complex are not even thought of as handicaps because there are such satisfactory remedies for them. Curly hair is still nice but is no longer a coveted gift of the Gods, permanents being what they are! Years ago women used to go about with hair on their upper lip or legs and bristles on their chins while today depilatories and electrolysis leave this problem troublesome but easily controlled.

Features do not matter much any more. Natural beauty can be enhanced and irregularities minimized by artful make-up and hair styling while faults in boney structure can be made less important by clothes styling. When it comes to the figure, the sky is the limit! We can just about make that over!

It is well to analyse yourself and to know what you are aiming for before you begin a course in self-improvement. How tall are you and what do you weigh? How many pounds too much or too little? Where is the greatest accumulation of weight? Upon what exercises should you concentrate? Of course, both age and boney structure enter into this. However, do not console yourself with the idea that a woman needs a little weight as she grows older for statistics prove just the opposite to be true.

YOU WILL HAVE A BETTER chance for a long life and vitality if you remain a few pounds under the average for your age. Overweight not only puts a dampener on beauty, but also an energy, and places a strain of the organs of your body.

If you wish to have my height and weight chart in order to know just where you stand and what you need to do, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 40, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Actress Jane Harker is doing a bit of measuring to be sure she's staying within the limits she has set for herself. She might confidentially admit she wants to improve her figure in some way—but if you are as shapely as she, you needn't worry much about correction.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Reading plays the largest role in early school years. It has been estimated that the modern child does 15 times as much reading as he did in 1900. Also, that 95 per cent of the failures in the first grade are due to the child's inability to read.

READING AND VISION are tied together firmly. The child may be suffering from all kinds of abnormalities of the eye without the parents being aware of them. The parent should be suspicious when the child fails to learn to read when it is obvious that he is a child of normal intelligence.

The Public Health Bureau of the New York State Optometric Association lists the following as possible signs of seeing difficulty.

1. Headache. Especially when the headache is associated with the use of the eyes.
2. Squinting.
3. Restlessness. When the child is well, but has a bad disposition or is nervous, an eye problem may be suspected.
4. Inattentiveness.
5. Dislike for reading. A normal child enjoys reading.
6. Poor reading or writing posture.
7. Complaint of letters and lines "running together," or "words jumping."
8. Crossed eyes.
9. Aversion to bright lights.
10. Holding reading or other work closer than do other children.
11. Holding reading or other work farther away than do other children.
12. Tilting head to one side.
13. Behavior problems in school.
14. Dropping head.
15. Reddish or scaly eyelids.
16. Styes.
17. Constant rubbing of eyes.
18. Fatigue or listlessness after close work.
19. Frowning or scowling.
20. Car sickness.
21. Watering eyes.
22.—Lower grades in reading subjects or school achievement below general ability.
23. A small percentage of cases of bed-wetting are caused by nervous inatability resulting from eye-strain.

JUST TO READ these symptoms of eye-strain may set the mother to pondering whether it is discipline and scolding her poor child needs or whether, instead, it is a prompt visit to the nearest optometrist or ophthalmologist. Every mother of a school child knows that it may happen that her child is not promoted because failure to discover his eye deficiences made him seem dumber than the rest. A good pair of eyeglasses may turn the seemingly dull child into a bright, efficient student.

Our leaflet No. 60, "How the Child Develops," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper. This takes the child up to the fifth year.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

When experts argue about a bridge hand I always listen for a point that will be of interest to you. Some players thought that the bidding on today's hand should be opened with two hearts by South, while others preferred three no trump. However, the argument did not concern the bidding, but rather how to play the hand if South arrived at a six no trump contract.

Should South win the spade opening in dummy and then take the heart finesse? If the heart finesse fails he is almost sure to go down, as there is no further entry to dummy.

Harry Fishbein thought that declarer should win the first trick with the ace of spades and then play out the ace and king of hearts. With this line of play South has several possibilities. The queen of hearts may be doubleton, or the queen of diamonds may be doubleton, or he may catch the jack of clubs three times in one hand.

As it happened, Fishbein was right. The heart finesse would have lost, as West held a doubleton queen-seven of hearts.

Debunker

According to well-known illustrators, men are more beautiful than women, if taken as nature made them. Even in Hollywood the men are more beautiful, and if the women used no make-up, hairdressing, corsets and other gadgets to cover their faults, it would be obvious that they are less beautiful. Put men and women in the same clothes with no make-up, and the contrast would be shocking. Artists say men have more beautiful eyelashes, eyebrows and complexions. Now ladies, debunk that!

Claims Jews Made Palestine Prosper

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—(CP)—The convention of the Zionist Organization of Canada was told yesterday by Sir Ellsworth Flavelle of Toronto that "Palestine has never prospered save under the magic touch of the Jewish spirit and the hand of Israel." Sir Ellsworth, addressing a luncheon meeting, told that Arab claims on Palestine were never admitted by the British government in the settlements following the First Great War beyond a guarantee of civil and religious rights to non-Jewish communities in Palestine.

Social Activities on University Campus Reach "All-Time High"

This week finds 3,000 University of Alberta students with no spare time on their hands as activities at the varsity have reached an "all-time high," with social affairs occupying the spotlight. Once through with daily lectures, labs and studying, entertainment, sports and assorted meetings come to the fore to climax what has been the busiest month of the year. It is expected the sudden splurge and whirl of activities will leave the scholars subdued and ready to settle down to study for the February mid-term tests.

MONDAY EVENING will mark the gathering of members and friends of the Co-Ed club at the annual formal, "Winter Wonderland," which is to be held in the Masonic Temple. Patroneses will be Miss Mabel Patrick, Miss H. McIntyre and Miss Mary Faunt. The club executive anticipates a crowd of 150 persons.

Tuesday the Agriculture club will hold its annual formal ball, "The Round-up," in the Masonic Temple.

ARRANGEMENTS are in charge of the club president, Bud McGinnis, who expects about 400 "Ags" with their friends to rally to the music of Frank McCleary's orchestra. Patrons and patronesses will be Dr. and Mrs. W. Dunkley and Dean and Mrs. Sinclair.

While the agriculture faculty is busy dancing, other students as well as interested citizens of Edmonton will gather in Convocation Hall in the Arts building at 8:15 to hear Dr. D. B. Scott deliver the final lecture in the atomic series, "The Atomic Bomb."

ON WEDNESDAY morning Prof. Van Vliet's basketball squad, "Golden Bears," leave for Winnipeg where they will meet the University of Saskatchewan "Huskies" and the University of Manitoba "Bisons" in the final games of the Rigby trophy series. The men on the Alberta line-up are Bill Hansen, Jim MacRae, Bill Price, Bill Rich, Phil Proctor, Norrl Nishio, Reid Payne, Bob Strother and Don and Del Steed.

Wednesday afternoon, all faculty and club representatives will meet to attempt arrangement of a schedule which will take care of and balance all campus activities for the remainder of the term.

ALSO, ON Wednesday, engineering students will gather for a special and outstanding meeting at which the campus "beer-nest" may view the six candidates who are entered in the contest for Queen of the engineers who will reign Friday evening at the Engineer's ball.

This same evening marks the weekly rehearsal of the University Symphony orchestra under the direction of Prof. John Rymes-King.

But that is not all for Wednesday: an Educational Undergraduate Society dance, "The Snowball," will be held in the old normal school building gymnasium. Prior to the dance there will be a banquet in the building's cafeteria in honor of the graduating students in classes E and F. Guest speaker at the banquet will be Dr. W. E. Lasenby.

CAMPUS ENGINEERING students at the university go to the polls Thursday to elect their faculty Queen. The candidates are Ellen-Anne Millard, Marjorie Dunning, Audrey MacDonald, Virginia Webb, Barara Duke, Audrey Fa-ckarerly. Another candidate, Boyne Johnston, secretary of the Mixed Chorus, has withdrawn from the contest in order to accompany the chorus to Calgary.

It is Thursday morning that 125 members of the Mixed Chorus, accompanied by Miss H. McIntyre, director of women students, leave Calgary where they will present concerts Thursday and Friday evenings in Knox United church.

ON FRIDAY, the University Drama Festival will be held in Convocation Hall. Plays will be presented by the universities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Alberta. The plays will be presented again Saturday evening.

Friday evening marks, for the Engineers, the largest and most active faculty on the campus. The highlight of the year, the Engineers' Ball, the arrangements for which are in charge of Doug Love. The drill hall is being decorated in some rather fantastic and weird assortments which have grown out of secret meetings in the engineering labs. Displays and entertainments will be provided during the dance. The queen who is elected Thursday will, in fine array, parade in and take over "the powers of royalty" for this night.

Saturday evening offers skating at the Varsity rink. During the latter part of the evening, moccasin dancing takes the place of skating and is a popular campus sport. Mike Bevan is rink manager.

B. Parker of the Canyon district, south of Leduc.

She is in Grade 10 at Garneau High School and intends to attend the University of Alberta. She attends Beth Shalom congregation. On Saturdays Eileen works in a dress shop.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

SO YOU BUSTED UP THE PARTY

Why did you tell Alice you'd go to her party if you didn't intend to go? Oh, you turned up at the appointed place and hour. You greeted the girls in their best dresses and expectant faces. But you spotted a couple of cronies over against the far wall . . . and you made a beeline to join them. You'd been saving up a few juicy tidbits to pass on. Gosh, it was fun to see them! Then you saw Jerry coming over.

With a sigh that you'd been able to escape the females, you settled down with the boys on their side of the room.

The girls were content for a little to wage girl chat. They kept their heads together . . . and every now and then you heard a high giggle and a mild screech from their side. But there was a mighty wall of Jericho through the middle of the room.

Finally, Alice began to get a bit jittery. She'd planned a party. She'd worked her brains to think up things to do to amuse all of you. She began to round up the girls . . . and they began to wriggle in their chairs and look over at you boys. Of course, you didn't pay any attention . . . they just weren't there, as far as you were concerned.

Then Alice got up her courage and approached your huddle. With a pleading smile she begged you boys to come to the party. Could your weighty male matters wait? She had a wonderful new game she'd like to spring on the crowd . . . and the girls were ready. "Wait a minute, Alice" was all she got for her pains. You gentlemen could not be bothered. So Alice shrugged her shoulders, and went back to pacify the ladies. She thought better of her game . . . and enlisted a couple of girls to roll up the rugs and sort out the records. Then she bravely suggested that you pick your partners. She even turned on the music to tantalize you . . . but did you budge? No sirree. So the girls started dancing with each other . . . trying valiantly not to care whether you danced with them or not.

IN DESPERATION, Alice decided the only way to get you lads to your feet was to suggest refreshments. She whispered "food." That did it. Whatever you were saying didn't really matter any more. "Come put on the feed bag" was an invitation you lads couldn't ignore.

Well, you should have stayed home! A party's a place where you mix and mingle. You go to be entertained and entertaining. Your hostess tries hard to see that you have a good time. But if you refuse to join the fun you're not to be invited often to bust up a party!

Presentation Made To Mrs. Turnbull

In honor of Mrs. Robert Turnbull, 10644 81 avenue, who celebrated her golden wedding anniversary Tuesday, Mrs. Jack Lymer was hostess at a tea Thursday afternoon, held at her South Side home.

During the afternoon a presentation of a gold pin with an aquamarine stone, and a corsage of Talisman roses was made to the guest of honor by Mrs. W. J. Saunder, Sr., on behalf of Mrs. Turnbull's many friends.

The tea table was set with a handembroidered linen cloth and centred with a wedding cake with gold decorations. Yellow daffodils in gold vases carried out the color motif and tall white tapers in crystal holders flanked the centrepiece. Mrs. Ross Bryant assisted the hostess.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. L. Abbott of Tofield, Mrs. A. J. Hickey of Calgary and Mrs. J. C. Cushing of Regina. Other guests were Mrs. E. H. Watts, Mrs. W. L. Lucas, Mrs. Dan McAfee, Mrs. Harry Robinson, Mrs. Ernest Davey,

Jaycees Hold Convention

The first convention of The Ladies' Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Corona hotel, Saturday and Sunday. Delegates from Lethbridge and Calgary were in attendance. Calgary delegates included Mrs. Teena Oughton, president of the Calgary group, Mrs. Marie Oliphant, Mrs. Madeline Fearey, Florence Swift, Peggy Rogers, Lillian Savage, Myrtle Ellis, Mae Brown. Lethbridge was represented Mrs. Braddie Fogel, their president, and Mrs. Mona McLaughlin.

A tour of the city took place Saturday afternoon, during which the visiting delegates were taken through the Col. Mewburn wing of the University Hospital, and had an opportunity to view the day-room furnished by the Edmonton Ladies' Junior Chamber of Commerce.

SUNDAY'S program was highlighted by a luncheon at the Corona hotel with nearly all the Edmonton members present to honor the visiting delegates. Entertainment, following the luncheon, by Jack Fowler, violinist, accompanied on the piano by Miss Norma Fowler; Miss Doris Campbell, soloist, accompanied by Miss Alarie Scheiler, was much enjoyed by all present.

Introduction of the delegates by Mrs. Margaret Campbell, president of the Ladies' Edmonton Jaycees opened the business session, after which she gave a brief resume of the organization's activities to date. Mrs. Maxine Weber, of the Edmonton club spoke, outlining several suggestions for co-ordinating activities among the clubs located in Alberta. Mrs. Teena Oughton, referred to the work done by the Calgary club, and gave a few ideas on projects which might be undertaken by the different clubs in the future. Mrs. Braddie Fogel spoke of the Lethbridge club, as yet being in its infancy, but promised full co-operation on anything which it is decided to operate on a provincial basis.

The meeting closed following an open forum in which was discussed the advisability of setting up a regional executive, because of the unanimous feeling that it will not be long before the organization will be operating on a Dominion-wide basis.

Bus Operation On High Bridge To Be Debated

Whether or not trolley coaches will be operated over the high level bridge will be debated by city council Monday night, when a notice of motion by Ald. C. E. Gariepy will be considered. This motion calls for the re-opening of the question of trolley-bus operation over the bridge.

THE QUESTION or such operation was decided last year by council when aldermen accepted reports from City Commissioner R. J. Gibb and street railway superintendent, Thomas Ferrier, to the effect that trolley-bus operation over the bridge would be safer than the present street car service.

Several aldermen were absent from council when the decision to operate trolley buses over the bridge was made. They include Alderman A. Bissel, KC, and Mayor Harry Ainlay who were on holidays.

MAYOR AINLAY has expressed opposition to the routing of trolley coaches over the bridge, and other aldermen suggested the alternative route over the Fifth street bridge.

Also to come before council will be the recommendations of the utilities committee recommending the establishment of seven new street railway services, and the erection of an addition to the street car barns, and also the construction of a garage at the barns to house 30 motor coaches.

These proposals will cost approximately $850,000 for equipment, and necessary street improvements to permit economical operation of the motor coaches and trolley buses.

COUNCIL ALSO will be asked to deal with a recommendation from the city commissioners that approximately $200,000 worth of paving be undertaken as local improvements this year. This is the largest amount of paving to be undertaken during this heading since the start of the World War.

Also to be considered is a communication from the Victoria WCTU asking for the elimination of wine advertising cards in street cars and trolley coaches. In their report to council, the city commissioners point out that the advertisement referred to is sponsored by a wine company and merely asks the public to hold their Victory Bonds.

The commissioners report that the Groat Ravine dump will finally be abandoned by the end of this year. They state that only three teams are hauling to the dump at present.

DEALING WITH THE request from the Edmonton board of health asking for the elimination of all open dumps in the city, the commissioners report that "It is impossible to do away entirely with open dumps. These must be continued, either in the city or outside the city limits, and would be required even for material put through the incinerator, in addition to which there is a large amount of material which could never be put through the incinerator.

A JOINT REPORT from Commissioner Gibb and Mr. Ferrier is being submitted to council relative to the safeness of trolley bus operation over the high level bridge.

In it they state very definitely that under the detailed proposals the operation of the trolley coaches over the bridge will be even safer than present operation of street cars, and these have been running now for 35 years without any serious accident having occurred.

They point out that because of its solid construction the trolley coach will be safer in a wind storm than would the upper portion of a street car, which would conceivably be lifted off the under-carriage by a wind of much higher velocity than has yet been experienced in Edmonton.

THE DECK CONSTRUCTION which is proposed, would make it impossible for a bus to leave its track on the bridge, whereas a broken rail might possibly derail a street car.

The construction will consist of a concrete trough flanked by 18-inch guards which would automatically keep the bus in the trough even without any attention to steering. The tread on which the tires will run will be composed of patented open-mesh steel floor, which allows all snow to pass through without accumulation, and even during icy conditions, there is good traction for rubber-tired vehicles on the open mesh.

THEY REPORT THAT although they rely entirely on the high concrete curb to prevent the trolley coach getting out of the trough, it is proposed to erect a safety fence on the outer edge of the bridge.

Chairman

E. B. Wilson, KC, former commanding officer of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment who was a brigadier on the Canadian Army staff before leaving the service, has been appointed chairman of the Poppy Fund for needy war veterans. Mr. Wilson resumed practice of law here recently after nearly six years of service with the army.

M. J. Coldwell Speaks to Club At University

M. J. Coldwell, MP, national leader of the CCF party, addressed a capacity audience of University of Alberta students in the Education Building auditorium Saturday. The subject of his address was "Apparent Weaknesses in Canadian Education".

Allan Ronaghan, president of the Education Undergraduate Society, acting as chairman, called on Dr. Robert Newton, president of the university, to introduce Mr. Coldwell. Dr. Newton, in his introductory remarks, stated that Mr. Coldwell "comes to us as one of the all too few representatives of education in the Dominion Government".

Mr. Coldwell, a former president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, with 24 years teaching experience, is well aware of present defects in the Canadian education systems. He stated that "these deficiencies are due to a lack of breadth in education", and suggested "these must be remedied, not by the community, not by the province, but by the nation as a whole". The basis for this was a "consciousness of nationhood", and with the achievement of that sense, Dominion support would then achieve national importance.

"THE DOMINION parliament," asserted Mr. Coldwell, "recognizes the inability of the provinces to do the job." He pointed out that particularly with regard to education, "points of inequality in the provinces must be met by some assumption on the part of the federal government."

Mr. Coldwell advocated development of standards in education, larger units for educational administration rather than local boards, and a "wider, broader, deeper national consciousness of education."

THE SPEAKER emphasized that a constant challenge to education is the improvement of environment through an improved classroom technique, and by means of teachers who will give to education a local color, rather than an enslavement to text-books.

Mr. Coldwell said that there is in Canada a lack of a teaching profession consisting of men and women who want to make teaching a life work, because "so often they have the wrong attitude, that teaching is a stepping stone to something better." The need is for a permanent teaching profession of teachers who take a real interest in their students and their profession, he said.

TEACHERS' ORGANIZATIONS. Mr. Coldwell said, would aid the teachers in raising the standard of education, salaries and teachers themselves.

The cultural and spiritual aspects of the Canadian people also must be cultivated. As a Canadian war memorial, Mr. Coldwell suggested the establishment of cultural centres throughout the country to make the culture of the world available to all, in such forms as a national opera company, a national orchestra, a national picture gallery, national drama and musical society. He added that even though only a few could actually view the performances, many more could share it by means of the radio, and in a few years hence, by means of television. This would help create a national interest in culture and education through means of the Canadian family.

Two Persons Hurt In Accidents Here

Two persons were injured in traffic accident here Saturday evening when a panel delivery truck driven by William Furman, 10426 91 street, collided with a car driven by Nicholas Guignion who resides on 113 street about a mile north of 127 avenue.

Miss Evelyn Pierce, 9315 109A avenue, a passenger in Guignion's car, suffered two severe cuts on the head, while Guignion received a cut left eyelid. They were rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital for medical attention.

Furman told police that he was travelling north on 95 street and that Guignion's car pulled out in front of him as he approached 109A avenue intersection. He stated that he was unable to stop in time to avoid an accident. After the collision, Furman's truck careened across the street and struck the hydrant on the northwest corner, breaking it off even with the sidewalk. The truck ended up on its side. Furman and Dorothy Nelson, 9416 102A avenue, passenger in the truck, escaped with light bruises.

Possible Reaction As Fleet Bombed

Great Winds, Waves May Crush Atom Target

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The atom bomb target fleet may be pummelled by 1,000-mile-an-hour winds, 100-foot waves and steel-fusing temperatures.

NAVY AND ARMY EXPERTS preparing for the joint tests have available extensive information gleaned from the studies made of the three bombs so far exploded—the initial test in New Mexico and the two attacks on Japan.

Here are some factors the naval, military and scientific experts have observed or anticipated:

1. A true wind from 500 to 1,000 miles an hour—of short duration but great intensity. Any wind above 75 miles an hour is of hurricane force.

2. IN THE SECOND projected test, where the bomb in detonated at the surface of the sea, it is expected a wave measuring as much as 100 feet from trough to crest may race outward.

3. In the centre of the so-called "ball of fire," a hot mass measuring about a third of a mile across, scientists believe heat up to 100,000,000 degrees farenheit may develop.

4. At the instant of explosion there is emitted a huge quantity of radiation.

SOME SCIENTISTS ESTIMATE that a bomb used on the surface, as in the second planned test, can deposit an enormous amount of radioactivity, equivalent to tons of radium. That menace has led the test planners to take elaborate precautions against accidents, including the evacuation of islanders in nearby areas who might be reached by radioactive water or clouds drifting out from the Bikini atoll explosion. Most scientists are confident that there is not even a remote prospect of a chain reaction from the bomb which would spread and affect faraway areas.

THOSE IN CHARGE of the test decline to give the exact pattern for anchoring the target fleet but have said some capital ships will be located in the centre, near the bomb burst point.

Plan Meeting

HIGH CLASS WHEAT FARM
CONSISTS of 800 acres with 600 under cultivation. About 170 well summerfallowed. Seven-room frame house; hip-roof barn; four granaries. Excellent well at the barn that cannot be pumped dry. Another two-foot bored well at the house. Half section adjoining for lease. Telephone passes the door. Public and high school facilities good. One of the grandest grain farms in Northern Alberta—soil is sharp chocolate loam, grows a splendid sample and good average yield. Has made present owner wealthy, but is now unable to farm it and will sell at a prodigious sacrifice of $12 an acre cash. This is not a poor farm in a poor district because the price is so low. THE OWNER WANTS IT SOLD QUICKLY. It's a chance for someone with the cash. Photos in our office.

Musician Seeking Grant of $4,600

Request will be made to city council Monday night by the Edmonton Musicians' Protective Association for a grant of $4,600 to provide a series of band concerts on Sunday afternoons, and Wednesday and Saturday evenings throughout the summer.

IT IS PROPOSED, if the grant is made, to hold concerts in Borden and Queen Elizabeth parks every Sunday during June, July and August and on the first Sunday in September, and also to stage a band concert on the greensward across from the American Red Cross hut on 100 street every Wednesday and Saturday evening during these months.

The association also asked that jurisdiction over band concerts be removed from the city engineer's department, and that it be given to the Edmonton Recreation Commission.

Ted Fio Rito Band Features Comedian

One of America's greatest comedians is a bass player with one of America's better orchestras. He is "Candy" Candido, who will appear with Ted Fio Rito and his "Skylined" music at the drill hall, Northwest Air Command, Tuesday night.

"Candy" is noted for his many voices which, including a very normal one, range from squeaky soprano to a "Popeye" base.

WHILE WITH the band, "Candy" has appeared in several movies, among them "Flying Down to Rio" and "Roberta."

Starring as vocalist with the band is Miss Joy Hodges, whose lovely voice has entranced millions of dancers across the continent. The appearance of Ted Fio Rito and his band in Edmonton will be the first of a series of American "Name" dance bands which will tour Western Canada this season. The RCAF Benevolent Fund shares in the proceeds.

Lady Jane Grey was Queen of England for only nine days.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Buoyed by the improved labor situation, stocks bulged one to more than six points, many to 15-year peaks, in today's market on the fastest sprint since 1940. The ticker tape was behind during most of the first hour as 1,000-to-50,000-share blocks changed hands on the upside.

exemption if the land "devolved upon a soldier by will or intestacy upon the death of a person who is the wife of a soldier or any of the ascendants or descendants of the soldier if the same was in the occupation of such a person immediately before the death of such a person."

In one southern municipality a sailor was refused exemption on the grounds that he rented his house during the time he was in the service. The municipality claimed taxes. They were wrong and have been so instructed by the minister of municipal affairs who has the deciding voice under the act. The deciding factor is not what was done with the house or land after he became a member of the services, provided it was not sold, but whether it was his "home property" within the meaning of the act at the time he joined the forces.

CERTAIN OTHER municipalities have continued to collect taxes from persons who did not know they were exempt under the act and now say there is nothing they can do about it. This is poppycock. Such payments must be regarded as over-payments, and either cash refunds made or credit given against future taxes, whichever the serviceman prefers.

On the other hand a serviceman must have served a minimum of six calendar months to qualify for the exemptions offered by the act. And the exemptions only continue to the end of the year in which he was discharged. There have been several cases reported of servicemen, having claimed exemption under the act, failing to report the date of their discharge to the municipality and continuing to enjoy exemptions beyond the time to which they were legally entitled. In these cases the municipality is entitled to levy and collect taxes for the period for which the serviceman improperly received exemption.

Under the act, too, it is forbidden for any municipality to proceed under the "Tax Recovery Act", or any other act relating to the recovery of taxes, for the collection of any arrears for the period a man is in the services, or until he sells the property, whichever happens first. This provision did not cancel arrears, but merely protected the soldier against legal action for recovery while he was serving in the forces. They become liable for the arrears immediately on discharge.

ANY VETERANS, or servicemen, who have reason to believe that they have a right to the protection and exemptions provided by this act, and who are not now enjoying those provisions, should write full details direct to the Minister of Municipal Affairs, in Edmonton. Or, if they prefer, if they will write to me in care of this newspaper, I will be pleased to take the matter up in person with the Minister and get an official directive in the case.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 28—(Reuters)—The stock market was quiet today and fractional changes were divided between the plus and minus sides.

Absence of interest caused British funds to ease slightly although there was no apparent selling pressure. Among foreign bonds, Europeans were reactionary and Japanese declined, but Brazilians firmed on fresh support.

Industrials were quiet. Oils were firmer and Anglo-Iranian was strong.

South African gold mines met only selective support.

Seismographs recorded 17,750 earth tremors in Japan over a test period of 13 years.
